Canada - Nice Classification Now Accepted for Trademark Applications

In preparation for the legislative changes contained in Bill C-31, the Canadian Intellectual Property Office is accepting trademark applications with goods and services organized in accordance with the Nice Classification as of September 28, 2015. Accordingly, your filing instructions can now include the goods and /or services description(s) and applicable classes. We can, of course, also now add the classes for you in the trademark applications we file for you in Canada. The current version of the Nice Classification as of January 1, 2015 is available online through the World Intellectual Property Office.
