CPTTP signed in Chile by 11 countries

On March 8, 2018 in Santiago, Chile, the ministers of Australia, Brunei, Canada, Chile, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, New Zealand, Peru, Singapore and Vietnam signed the text of the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership ("CPTPP").

Even with the sudden withdrawal of the United States from the original agreement in January 2017, the CPTPP still represents more than 13% of the world's Gross Domestic Product (GDP).

After the United States' withdrawal from the Trans-Pacific Partnership ("TPP") originally signed in 2016, the remaining eleven countries decided to go on with such agreement. This was made through the signature of a new agreement, the CPTPP, which incorporates the full contents of the original TPP, exception made of 22 provisions that were suspended. The provisions that were suspended are included in the following chapters of the agreement: Intellectual property, customs administration, investment, cross-border trade in services, financial services, telecommunications, environment, transparency and anticorruption.

Once in force, the CPTPP will grant Mexico preferential access to Australia, Brunei, Malaysia, New Zealand, Singapore and Vietnam, countries with which Mexico did not have trade agreements; while it will increase the previously granted preferences with countries with which it already has trade agreements, i.e., Canada, Chile, Japan and Peru.

The texts of the agreement can be found in the following links

- Text of the CPTPP with list of suspended provisions (English)
- Text of the CPTPP and all 30 chapters (excluding annexes) (English Zip file)
- Side agreements
- Annexes to the Chapters
- · Annexes to the Agreement
- Other documents
- Text of the CPTPP with the list of suspensions (Spanish version)
- Explanatory Note of the list of suspension (Spanish version)

The next step is the ratification of the agreement by each country, in accordance with their internal procedures.

In order for the CPTPP to become effective, at least 6 of the signatory countries must notify their ratification. Once this happens, the CPTPP will become effective after 60 days.

Baker McKenzie has a team that can assist you in any of the signatory countries. Likewise, if you need assistance regarding the duty preferences to be granted to your products once the CPTPP becomes effective and the requirements to be entitled to claim those preferences, please do not hesitate to contact the authors, Adriana Ibarra Fernández, José Hoyos Robles or any member of the International and Commercial Trade practice in any of the signatory countries where Baker McKenzie has offices.

Costa Rica

Costa Rica launches safeguard investigation on rebar

On 26 March 2018, Costa Rica notified the WTO's Committee on Safeguards that it publicized on 19 March 2018 an initiation of a safeguard investigation on imports of bars of steel for the reinforcement of concrete. In the notification Costa Rica indicated, among other things, as follows (excerpt from a provisional English translation):

- "i) Presentation of evidence and submission of comments
- ... [T]he parties will have 10 working days ... counted from the notification of the beginning of the investigation, to present written submissions and any document of defense that they consider pertinent.

Likewise, they will have 3 working days, counted from the last notification of the beginning of the investigation, to file an appeal under ... the General Law of the Costa Rican Public Administration.

- ... [T]he parties will have 45 calendar days, counted from the day following the notification of the request for information ..., to provide evidence.
- ii) Deadlines and procedure for Members and exporters to identify themselves as interested parties
- \dots [A] period of 8 working days, counted as of its publication in the Official Gazette, is granted to anyone who considers itself an interested party in the proceeding to appear before the Investigating Authority \dots "

CANADA

Canada takes action to stop transshipment of steel and aluminum

March 27, 2018, the Prime Minister's website announced that:

The transshipment and diversion of unfairly cheap foreign steel and aluminum is a threat to Canadian jobs and the North American market.

Canada already has one of the toughest enforcement regimes in the world to combat this practice. We currently have 71 trade remedy measures in force on steel and aluminum imports alone. And we are strengthening enforcement further to stop foreign exporters from avoiding duties meant to level the playing field.

The following regulatory changes will be brought forward and be subject to a 15-day consultation period through the Canada Gazette:

- New anti-circumvention investigations will allow the Canada Border Services Agency to identify and stop companies that try to dodge duties (for example, by slightly modifying products or assembling them in Canada or a third country).
- In calculating duties, the Canada Border Services Agency will have greater flexibility in determining whether prices charged in the exporter's domestic market, which we use for comparison, are reliable or distorted.
- Unions will gain standing to participate in trade-remedy proceedings, including at the Canadian International Trade Tribunal, into whether foreign exports are hurting domestic producers.

In addition, the Government of Canada will:

- Coordinate more closely with our partners to strengthen enforcement at the border, including by increasing the frequency of meetings between border agencies. This will improve the sharing of information and enforcement action. We will also urgently undertake a review to make sure our enforcement agencies have all the resources they need to take action on unfair trade.
- Look to meet more often with the United States and Mexico to identify and discuss solutions to issues that harm all three countries, including transshipment, diversion, and global overcapacity.
- Participate in new federal-provincial-territorial-stakeholder committees, which will meet regularly to monitor steel and aluminum trade to ensure imports do not hurt Canadian and North American jobs.

These changes form part of what will be a continuous process of making Canada's trade remedy investigations and enforcement more robust, responsive and timely.

We will always stand up for Canadian steel and aluminum workers and the Canadian steel and aluminum industry.

MFA's position on US steel and aluminum tariffs

On March 1, 2018, the Honourable Chrystia Freeland, Minister of Foreign Affairs, issued the following statement:

"As a key NORAD and NATO ally, and as the number one customer of American steel, Canada would view any trade restrictions on Canadian steel and aluminum as absolutely unacceptable.

"Any restrictions would harm workers, the industry and manufacturers on both sides of the border. The steel and aluminum industry is highly integrated and supports critical North American manufacturing supply chains. The Canadian government will continue to make this point directly with the American administration at all levels.

"Canada is a safe and secure supplier of steel and aluminum for U.S. defence and security. Canada is recognized in U.S. law as a part of the U.S. National Technology and Industrial Base related to national defence.

"The United States has a $2-billion surplus in steel trade with Canada. Canada buys more American steel than any other country in the world, accounting for 50% of U.S. exports.

"It is entirely inappropriate to view any trade with Canada as a national security threat to the United States. We will always stand up for Canadian workers and Canadian businesses. Should restrictions be imposed on Canadian steel and aluminum products, Canada will take responsive measures to defend its trade interests and workers."

Deadline to benefit from global pedimento is near for adjusting import and export values of 2017 operations

What is the Global Pedimento?

The global pedimento is an administrative benefit established in the Foreign Trade General Rules, by means of which it is possible to adjust the import customs value, or the export commercial value, declared in import and export pedimentos filed during a fiscal year, without the need to rectify each import and export pedimento subject to adjustments. [Note: pedimento is a Customs declaration.]

There are different causes that can trigger the need to adjust import and/or export values, such as the following:

- Due to variations in import or export prices, as a result of year-end transfer pricing adjustments;
- Adjustments to customs value additions for insurance fees, when companies have hired an annual insurance policy which covers international shipments:
- Adjustments to customs value additions pertaining to payments of royalties;
- Adjustments to the amounts of freight costs considered as additions;
- Differences or errors in the determination of the customs value and/or commercial value declared in import or export pedimentos.

What are the Benefits of Using the Global Pedimento?

The main benefits deriving from the use of the global pedimento include the following:

- Reduce customs broker fees and minimize internal administrative burden, by filing just one pedimento to correct the values declared in multiple import or export pedimentos, instead of filing multiple rectification pedimentos (one for each import or export pedimento subject to correction).
- Mitigate the exposure to fines and sanctions, by implementing timely, practical and efficiently self-corrective actions.
- Duly support income tax deductions of import purchases, by correcting customs values before filing the annual tax return.

Please note that to be able to apply this benefit, the value adjustments should not detonate a favorable balance of import or export duties.

Deadline to File the Global Pedimento

The global pedimento must be filed before filing the 2017 annual tax return, that is, no later than March 31, 2018. [Note: Since March 31, 2018 is Saturday, the deadline to file the annual tax return would be extended to Monday, April 2, 2018, in terms of article 12 of the Federal Tax Code.]

If the company misses out on the opportunity to file the global pedimento within the timeframe referred above, it is possible to file such global pedimento afterwards, if a complementary tax return is filed.

How We Can Help

Our Firm's International Commercial Practice Group is highly experienced in assisting companies with the filing of global pedimentos and assessing the tax/ duty impact of the adjustments, based on industry best practices.

At Baker McKenzie we are at your service to assist you in this endeavor, and we will be pleased to address any inquiry related to this subject. Authors:

Dania Guerra Quezada, Andrea Diéguez Orozco and Fabian Navares Aguilera.

President determines AGOA eligibility for Rwanda, Tanzania and Uganda

ON March 29, 2018, the US Trade Representative announced that the President determined the eligibility of Rwanda, Tanzania, and Uganda for trade preference benefits under the African Growth and Opportunity Act (AGOA). The announcement said:

In response to a petition filed by the U.S. used clothing industry in March 2017, the Administration initiated an out-of-cycle review of Rwanda, Tanzania, and Uganda's AGOA eligibility regarding their decisions to phase in a ban on imports of used clothing and footwear. The review found that this import ban harms the U.S. used clothing industry and is inconsistent with AGOA beneficiary criteria for countries to eliminate barriers to U.S. trade and investment.

Based on the results of the review, the President determined that Rwanda is not making sufficient progress toward the elimination of barriers to U.S. trade and investment, and therefore is out of compliance with eligibility requirements of AGOA. Consequently, the President notified Congress and the Government of Rwanda of his intent to suspend duty-free treatment for all AGOA-eligible apparel products from Rwanda in 60 days.

The President believes suspension of these benefits, instead of termination of Rwanda's status as an AGOA beneficiary, would allow for continued engagement with the aim of restoring market access and thereby bringing Rwanda into compliance with the AGOA eligibility requirements.

The President is not suspending benefits for Tanzania and Uganda because each has taken steps toward eliminating prohibitive tariff rates on imports of used clothing and footwear and committed not to phase in a ban of these products. The United States will continue to monitor whether Tanzania and Uganda implement these commitments and demonstrate compliance with all of AGOA's eligibility requirements.

President signs Consolidated Appropriations Act – restores GSP

On March 23, 2018, President Trump signed H.R. 1625, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 (now Public Law 115-141; the "Act") which will fund the Federal Government through September 2018. Title V, Section 501 of the Act extends the Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) program to December 31, 2020. As in past acts extending GSP, the Act is retroactive to entries or withdrawals for consumption made after December 31, 2017 when GSP expired and before the effective date of the extension (articles entered on or after the 30th day after the date of the enactment of the Act), provided that a request for liquidation or reliquidation is filed with U.S. Customs and Border Protection not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act that contains sufficient information to enable U.S. Customs and Border Protection—

- (i) to locate the entry; or
- (ii) to reconstruct the entry if it cannot be located.

Any amounts owed by the United States pursuant to the liquidation or reliquidation of an entry of a covered article shall be paid, without interest, not later than 90 days after the date of the liquidation or reliquidation (as the case may be). The Act also modified the dates for competitive needs limitations and waivers. The Act extended the collection of merchandise processing fees from February 24, 2027 until July 21, 2027.

President grants temporary exemptions from aluminum and steel tariffs to several countries; domestic party exclusions to be retroactive

On March 22, 2018, President Trump signed Presidential Proclamation 9710 of March 22, 2018 - Adjusting Imports of Aluminum into the United States and Presidential Proclamation 9711 of March 22, 2018 - Adjusting Imports of Steel into the United States (both published in the Federal Register on March 28, 2018) which amend Proclamations 9704 and 9705 to grant relief until May 1, 2018 from the 10% aluminum tariffs and 25% steel tariffs to Canada, Mexico, Australia, Argentina, South Korea, Brazil, and the member countries of the European Union to permit discussions with these countries to continue. The proclamations also leave open the possibility of extending the exemptions and/or imposing quotas.

The new proclamations further amend the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States as follows:

- The reference to "7304.10" in clause 1 of Proclamation 9705, is amended to read "7304.11":
- (For steel) paragraph (a) of U.S. note 16, of subchapter III of chapter 99 of the HTSUS and the article description for 9903.80.01 will cover Canada, Mexico, Australia, Argentina, South Korea, Brazil, and the member countries of the European Union; and
- (For aluminum): paragraph (a) of U.S. note 19 of subchapter III of chapter 99 of the HTSUS, and the article description for 9903.85.01 will cover Canada, Mexico, Australia, Argentina, South Korea, Brazil, and the member countries of the European Union.

The new proclamations add additional considerations for granting exclusions pursuant to Clause 3 of Proclamations 9704 and 9705, by adding that relief (exclusions) may be provided to directly affected parties on a party-by-party basis taking into account the regional availability of particular articles, the ability to transport articles within the United States, and any other factors as the Secretary deems appropriate. In addition, each of the original proclamations is amended to make relief retroactive to the date the request for exclusion was posted for public comment.

Aluminum and steel articles entered into a foreign trade zone (FTZ) on or after 12:01 a.m. EDT on March 23, 2018 must be admitted into "privileged foreign status" as defined by 19 C.F.R. 146.41 and will be subject upon entry for consumption to any ad valorem rates of duty related to the classification under the applicable HTSUS subheading. Aluminum and steel articles that were admitted into an FTZ under "privileged foreign status" prior to 12:01 a.m. EDT on March 23, 2018, will likewise be subject upon entry for consumption to any ad valorem rates of duty related to the classification under applicable HTSUS subheadings imposed by Proclamations 9704 or 9705, as amended by the March 22 proclamations.

US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) issued CSMS# 18-000240 on March 22, 2018 explaining how the covered products must be entered and how rejected entries will be handled. CBP notes that the merchandise covered by the additional duties may also be subject to antidumping and countervailing duties.

President announces "strong actions" to address China's "unfair trade practices"

On March 22, 2018, President Trump issued a Memorandum (published in the Federal Register on March 27, 2018) for the Secretary of the Treasury, the United States Trade Representative (USTR), the Senior Advisor for Policy, the Assistant to the President for Economic Policy, the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and Counterterrorism announcing his decisions on the actions the Administration will take in response to China's unfair trade practices covered in the USTR Section 301 investigation of China's Acts, Policies, and Practices Related to Technology Transfer, Intellectual Property, and Innovation. USTR Robert Lighthizer initiated the investigation in August 2017 at the direction of the President.

The President's Memorandum states that the investigation supports the following findings:

First, China uses foreign ownership restrictions, including joint venture requirements, equity limitations, and other investment restrictions, to require or pressure technology transfer from U.S. companies to Chinese entities. China also uses administrative review and licensing procedures to require or pressure technology transfer, which, inter alia, undermines the value of U.S. investments and technology and weakens the global competitiveness of U.S. firms.

Second, China imposes substantial restrictions on, and intervenes in, U.S. firms' investments and activities, including through restrictions on technology licensing terms. These restrictions deprive U.S. technology owners of the ability to bargain and set market-based terms for technology transfer. As a result, U.S. companies seeking to license technologies must do so on terms that unfairly favor Chinese recipients.

Third, China directs and facilitates the systematic investment in, and acquisition of, U.S. companies and assets by Chinese companies to obtain cutting edge technologies and intellectual property and to generate large-scale technology transfer in industries deemed important by Chinese government industrial plans.

Fourth, China conducts and supports unauthorized intrusions into, and theft from, the computer networks of U.S. companies. These actions provide the Chinese government with unauthorized access to intellectual property, trade secrets, or confidential business information, including technical data, negotiating positions, and sensitive and proprietary internal business communications, and they also support China's strategic development goals, including its science and technology advancement, military modernization, and economic development.

The President has instructed that the appropriate response to China's harmful acts, policies and practices should include three separate actions.

- Tariffs (a) USTR is to take all appropriate action under section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2411) to address the acts, policies, and practices of China that are unreasonable or discriminatory and that burden or restrict U.S. commerce. USTR is to consider whether such action should include increased tariffs on goods from China.
 - (b) USTR is to publish a proposed list of products and any tariff increases within 15 days the Memorandum. After a period of notice and comment, and after consultation with appropriate agencies and committees, USTR will publish a final list of products and tariff increases, if any, and implement any such tariffs.
- WTO dispute The President has instructed USTR to pursue dispute settlement in the World Trade Organization (WTO) to address China's discriminatory technology licensing practices. Where appropriate and consistent with law, USTR should pursue this action in cooperation with other WTO members
- Investment restrictions The President has directed the Secretary of the Treasury to address concerns about investment in the United States directed or facilitated by China in industries or technologies deemed important to the United States.

US imposes additional economic sanctions on Venezuela targeting cryptocurrencies and certain other individuals

On March 19, 2018, the President issued a new Executive Order (EO) related to Venezuela entitled "Taking Additional Steps to Address the Situation in Venezuela" ("Venezuela EO") available here. The Venezuela EO is the first EO that specifically targets the use of cryptocurrency. Please see our prior blog posts concerning the previous Venezuela-related EOs: (i) EO 13808 of August 24, 2017 here and (ii) EO 13692 of March 8, 2015 here.

The Venezuela EO is aimed at curbing the Venezuela Government's efforts to circumvent US sanctions through the use of cryptocurrencies. Specifically, the Venezuela EO prohibits "US Persons" (i.e., entities organized under US laws and their non-US branches; individuals and entities physically located in the United States; and US citizens and permanent resident aliens, wherever located or employed) from engaging in (i) all transactions related to, provision of financing for, and other dealings in, (ii) any digital currency, digital coin, or digital token, (iii) that was issued by, for, or on behalf of the Venezuelan Government (iv) on or after January 9, 2018.

Based on this description, the prohibitions on dealing in Venezuelan Government-issued cryptocurrencies would apply to (i) any digital currencies that have not yet been developed but are later issued by, for, or on behalf of the Venezuelan Government and (ii) any digital currencies issued by parties other than the Venezuelan Government where the proceeds obtained are "for, or on behalf of" the Venezuelan Government. Other cryptocurrencies, such as cryptocurrencies issued before January 9, 2018 by the Venezuelan Government or cryptocurrencies not issued by, for, or on behalf of the Venezuelan Government, would not be subject to the Venezuela EO. However, such cryptocurrencies would be treated identical to any other funding source and therefore would be subject to the restrictions found in the previously issued Executive Order 13808.

The Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC") also issued three additional FAQs related to the Venezuela EO, available here. The FAQs clarify the following:

- "Petro" and "petro-gold" (i.e., a cryptocurrency backed by precious metals and issued by the Venezuelan Government) are considered to be digital currencies subject to the prohibitions of Venezuela EO;
- 2. the bolivar fuerte (i.e., Venezuela's traditional fiat currency) is not considered subject to the prohibitions of Venezuela EO; and
- 3. absent authorization from OFAC, any US Persons that purchased Venezuelan Government issued cryptocurrencies after January 9, 2018, are prohibited from engaging in any transactions related to, financing for, and otherwise dealing in such currencies after the issuance of Venezuela EO. This means there is no grandfathering for those that purchased or otherwise dealt in cryptocurrencies issued by the Venezuelan Government after January 9, 2018, even if such dealings were before the issuance of the Venezuela EO on March 19, 2018.

OFAC has also clarified in its separate new Virtual/Digital Currency-related FAQs (here) that, among other things, OFAC compliance obligations are the same regardless of whether a transaction is denominated in digital currency or traditional fiat currency. Companies should consider developing compliance programs that are tailored and risk-based, taking into account the pseudo-anonymous nature of cryptocurrencies.

Lastly, OFAC also added four individuals to the Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons List pursuant to EO 13692. Additional information regarding the designated individuals and Venezuela EO is available here.

President prohibits acquisition of Qualcomm by Broadcom

On March 12, 2018, President Trump signed an order prohibiting the proposed takeover of Qualcomm Incorporated (Qualcomm) by Broadcom Limited and its related companies (Broadcom) pursuant to section 721 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (section 721), 50 U.S.C. 4565, and other authorities. The action was taken because the President believed that Broadcom through exercising control of Qualcomm, a Delaware corporation, might take action that threatens to impair the national security of the United States and that section 721 and the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.), do not, in the President's judgment, provide adequate and appropriate authority for him to protect the national security in this matter.

President continues national emergency with respect to Iran

On March 14, 2018, the Federal Register published Presidential Notice of March 12, 2018 - Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Iran, which extends for an additional year the national emergency originally declared on March 15, 1995 by Executive Order (EO) 12957 to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States constituted by the actions and policies of the Government of Iran. More comprehensive sanctions on Iran to further respond to this threat were imposed on May 6, 1995 by EO 12959. EO 13059 (August 19, 1997) consolidated and clarified the earlier orders. Additional steps were taken pursuant through EO 13553 (September 28, 2010), EO 13574 (May 23, 2011), EO 13590 (November 20, 2011), EO 13599 (February 5, 2012), EO 13606 (April 22, 2012), EO 13608 (May 1, 2012), EO 13622 (July 30, 2012), EO 13628 (October 9, 2012), and EO 13645 (June 3, 2013).

On July 14, 2015, the P5+1 (China, France, Germany, Russia, the United Kingdom, and the United States), the European Union, and Iran agreed to a Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) to ensure that Iran's nuclear program remains exclusively peaceful. On January 16, 2016, Implementation Day under the JCPOA, the United States lifted nuclear-related sanctions on Iran, by terminating a number of EOs that had been issued pursuant to this national emergency and by taking other actions. Though these measures constitute a significant change in the US sanctions posture, comprehensive non-nuclear-related sanctions with respect to Iran remain in place.

The national emergency is being extended because actions and policies of the Government of Iran, including its development of ballistic missiles, support for international terrorism, and human rights abuses continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States.

The emergency declared by EO 12957 constitutes an emergency separate from that declared on November 14, 1979, by EO 12170, in connection with the hostage crisis. This renewal, therefore, is distinct from the emergency renewal of November 2017.

President imposes tariffs on steel and aluminum imports

On March 8, 2018, President Trump signed two Presidential Proclamations, Proclamation 9705 - Adjusting Imports of Steel into the United States and Proclamation 9704 - Adjusting Imports of Aluminum into the United States (both published in the Federal Register on March 15, 2018) pursuant to section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1862), imposing additional tariffs on importations of iron or steel and aluminum products and modifying the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS). The proclamations are virtually identical except for the product [iron/steel or aluminum] and the tariff rate. The tariffs, of 25% for iron or steel products and 10% for aluminum products, except from Canada or Mexico, were imposed based on a report and recommendations of the Secretary of Commerce (Secretary) who found that "the present quantities and circumstances of steel [and aluminum] articles imports threaten to impair the national security..." The actions are intended to "enable domestic steel [and aluminum] producers to use approximately 80 percent of existing domestic production capacity and thereby achieve long-term economic viability through increased production."

Covered articles of steel

For purposes of the steel proclamation, "steel articles" are defined at the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) 6-digit level as: 7206.10 through 7216.50, 7216.99 through 7301.10, 7302.10, 7302.40 through 7302.90, and 7304.10 through 7306.90, including any subsequent revisions to these HTS classifications.

Covered articles of aluminum

For the purposes of the aluminum proclamation, "aluminum articles" are defined in the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) as: (a) unwrought aluminum (HTS 7601); (b) aluminum bars, rods, and profiles (HTS 7604); (c) aluminum wire (HTS 7605); (d) aluminum plate, sheet, strip, and foil (flat rolled products) (HTS 7606 and 7607); (e) aluminum tubes and pipes and tube and pipe fitting (HTS 7608 and 7609); and (f) aluminum castings and forgings (HTS 7616.99.51.60 and 7616.99.51.70), including any subsequent revisions to these HTS classifications.

Tariff schedule modifications and effective date

The proclamations modify subchapter III of chapter 99 of the HTSUS as provided in the Annexes to each proclamation. The proclamations create new subheadings 9903.80.01 (iron and steel) and 9903.85.01 (aluminum) for products covered by the tariffs, as well as new notes 16 (iron/steel) and 19 (aluminum) to chapter 99. Except as otherwise provided in the proclamation, or in notices published pursuant to exemptions granted pursuant to clause 3 of the proclamation, all steel articles imports specified in the Annex shall be subject to an additional 25 percent ad valorem rate of duty and all aluminum articles shall be subject to an additional 10 per cent ad valorem rate of duty with respect to goods entered, or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption, on or after 12:01 a.m. eastern daylight time on March 23, 2018. This rate of duty, which is in addition to any other duties, fees, exactions, and charges applicable to such imported steel and aluminum articles (including any antidumping or countervailing duties), shall apply to imports of steel and aluminum articles from all countries except Canada and Mexico.

Exclusions

The President agreed with a recommendation from the Secretary that he be authorized, in response to specific requests from affected domestic parties, to exclude from any adopted import restrictions those steel [or aluminum] articles for which the Secretary determines there is a lack of sufficient U.S. production capacity of comparable products, or to exclude steel [or aluminum] articles from such restrictions for specific national security-based considerations. The Secretary must promulgate procedures for requesting exemptions within 10 days from the date of the proclamation. [See below for discussion and text of published regulations].

The request must come from an affected domestic producer. The Secretary must consult with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Defense, the United States Trade Representative (USTR), the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, the Assistant to the President for Economic Policy, and such other senior Executive Branch officials as the Secretary deems appropriate, in making a determination.

If the Secretary determines that a particular steel [or aluminum] article should be excluded, the Secretary must, upon publishing a notice of such determination in the Federal Register, notify Customs and Border Protection (CBP) concerning such article so that it will be excluded from the duties described in the proclamation. The Secretary shall consult with CBP to determine whether the HTSUS provisions created by the Annex to the proclamation should be modified in order to ensure the proper administration of such exclusion, and, if so, shall make such modification to the HTSUS through a notice in the Federal Register.

Exemptions by country

The proclamations state that any country with which we have a security relationship is welcome to discuss with the United States alternative ways to address the threatened impairment of the national security caused by imports from that country. Should the United States and any such country arrive at a satisfactory alternative means to address the threat to the national security such that the President determines that imports from that country no longer threaten to impair the national security, the President may remove or modify the restriction on steel [or aluminum] articles imports from that country and, if necessary, make any corresponding adjustments to the tariff as it applies to other countries as US national security interests require.

The President concluded that Canada and Mexico present a special case due to a shared commitment to supporting each other in addressing national security concerns, a shared commitment to addressing global excess capacity for producing steel, the physical proximity of the respective industrial bases, the robust economic integration between the countries, the export of steel [and aluminum] articles produced in the United States to Canada and Mexico, and the close relation of the economic welfare of the United States to our national security. The President determined that the necessary and appropriate means to address the threat to the national security posed by imports of steel and aluminum articles from Canada and Mexico is to continue ongoing discussions with these countries and to exempt steel and aluminum articles imports from these countries from the tariff, at least at this time.

President continues national emergencies with respect to Ukraine, Venezuela, Zimbabwe, South Sudan, Malicious Cyber-Enabled Activities

On March 5, 2018, the Federal Register published one year extensions to the following national emergencies because actions and policies addressed in the Executive Orders (EO) in which they were original declared or modified continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States.

- Notice of March 2, 2018 Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Ukraine, originally declared in EO 13660 (March 6, 2014) to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States constituted by the actions and policies of persons that undermine democratic processes and institutions in Ukraine; threaten its peace, security, stability, sovereignty, and territorial integrity; and contribute to the misappropriation of its assets. The national emergency was expanded in EO 13661 (March 16, 2014), EO 13662 (March 20, 2014) and EO 13685 (December 19, 2014) due to actions of the Russian government's actions, including the purported annexation and occupation of Crimea and its use of force in Ukraine;
- Notice of March 2, 2018 Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Venezuela, originally declared in EO 13692 (March 8, 2015) based on the Government of Venezuela's erosion of human rights guarantees, persecution of political opponents, curtailment of press freedoms, use of violence and human rights violations and abuses in response to antigovernment protests, and arbitrary arrest and detention of antigovernment protestors, as well as the exacerbating presence of significant government corruption. Additional steps were taken in EO 13808 (August 24, 2017) in light of the actions and policies of the Government of Venezuela, including serious abuses of human rights and fundamental freedoms; responsibility for the deepening humanitarian crisis in Venezuela; establishment of an illegitimate Constituent Assembly, which usurped the power of the democratically elected National Assembly and other branches of the Government of Venezuela; rampant public corruption; and ongoing repression and persecution of, and violence toward, the political opposition; and

Notice of March 2, 2018 - Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Zimbabwe, originally declared in EO 13288 (March 6, 2003), which blocked the property of certain persons, to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the foreign policy of the United States constituted by the actions and policies of certain members of the Government of Zimbabwe and other persons to undermine Zimbabwe's democratic processes or institutions. Additional persons were added by EO 13391 (Nov. 22, 2005) and the scope was expanded by EO 13469 (July 25, 2008).

On March 28, 2018, the Federal Register published one year extensions to the following national emergencies because actions and policies addressed in the Executive Orders (EO) in which they were original declared or modified continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States.

- Notice of March 27, 2018 Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to South Sudan, originally declared in EO 13664 (April 3, 2014), to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States constituted by the situation in and in relation to South Sudan, which has been marked by activities that threaten the peace, security, or stability of South Sudan and the surrounding region, including widespread violence and atrocities, human rights abuses, recruitment and use of child soldiers, attacks on peacekeepers and humanitarian aid workers, and obstruction of humanitarian operations.
- Notice of March 27, 2018 Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Significant Malicious Cyber-Enabled Activities, originally declared in EO 13694 (April 1, 2015), to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States constituted by the increasing prevalence and severity of malicious cyber-enabled activities originating from, or directed by persons located, in whole or in substantial part, outside the United States. Additional steps were taken in EO 13694 (December 28, 2016).

President says he will impose steel tariffs of 25%, aluminum tariffs of 10%

On March 1, 2018, President Trump hosted a "listening session with representatives from the steel and aluminum industry." During the session, representatives of the steel and aluminum industries complained about the unfair playing field and indicated that tariffs would level the playing field. The President agreed and stated that the work will be completed "next week" on imposing tariffs on steel and aluminum imports. In response to a question from the press, he indicated that the tariffs would be 25% for steel and 10% for aluminum.

The announcement was apparently made before the legal review of the recent reports from Commerce had been completed and without advance notice to some of his own staff and Congress. The announcement sent the stock market down and immediately drew threats of retaliation from European and Asian trading partners who vowed to retaliate with higher tariffs on U.S. products. It should be noted that this was not an official announcement and the actual document that is finally issued may reflect different terms, since Commerce recommended several alternatives.

The Commerce report with recommendations was released on February 16, 2018 (unclassified versions of the reports are available here). In each case, the Department of Commerce concluded that the quantities and circumstances surrounding steel and aluminum imports "threaten to impair the national security," thereby opening the door to the imposition of import restraints. Specifically, Commerce's recommendations are as follows:

Steel - Alternative Remedies

- 1. A global tariff of at least 24% on all steel imports from all countries, or
- 2. A tariff of at least 53% on all steel imports from 12 countries (Brazil, China, Costa Rica, Egypt, India, Malaysia, Republic of Korea, Russia, South Africa, Thailand, Turkey and Vietnam) with a quota by product on steel imports from all other countries equal to 100% of their 2017 exports to the United States, or
- 3. A quota on all steel products from all countries equal to 63% of each country's 2017 exports to the United States.

The measures would apply to steel mill products classified in subheadings 7206.10 through 7216.50, 7216.99 through 7301.10, 7302.10, 7302.40 through 7302.90, and 7304.10 through 7306.90.

Aluminum – Alternative Remedies

- 1. A tariff of at least 7.7% on all aluminum exports from all countries, or
- 2. A tariff of 23.6% on all products from China, Hong Kong, Russia, Venezuela and Vietnam. All the other countries would be subject to quotas equal to 100% of their 2017 exports to the United States, or
- 3. A quota on all imports from all countries equal to a maximum of 86.7% of their 2017 exports to the United States.

These measures would apply to unwrought aluminum (heading 7601), aluminum castings and forgings (subheadings 7616.99.51.60 and 7616.99.51.70), aluminum plat, sheet, strip and foil (flat rolled products) (headings 7606 and 7607); aluminum wire (heading 7605); aluminum bars, rods and profiles (heading 7604); aluminum tubes and pipes (heading 7608); and aluminum tube and pipe fittings (heading 7609).

The goal of such measures is to all U.S. aluminum and steel producers to utilize 80% of production of capacity.

The recommendation also includes a process to allow Commerce to grant requests from U.S. companies for specific product exclusions if there was insufficient domestic production, or for national security considerations.

USTR releases 2018 National Trade Estimate Report

On March 30, 2018, the Office of the US Trae Representative (USTR) released the 2018 National Trade Estimate (NTE), an annual report documenting foreign trade and investment barriers facing American exports around the world.

US and South Korea reach agreement in principle on KORUS and sec. 232

On March 28, 2018, US Trade Representative Robert E. Lighthizer and South Korean Minister for Trade Hyun Chong Kim issued a joint statement announcing that the US and S. Korea have reached an agreement in principle on the general terms of amendments and modifications to the United States-Republic of Korea Free Trade Agreement (KORUS FTA). The nations have also agreed on terms for a country exemption for S. Korea from tariffs imposed on steel imports under Section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 pursuant to Presidential Proclamation 9705, as amended.

At the instruction of the Ministers, negotiators are finalizing the terms of the KORUS FTA negotiations, which are subject to domestic procedures in both nations before provisions can be brought into force. The revised agreement addresses issues related to investment, tariffs, trade in automobiles, and trade remedies. Additional progress was made in the areas of pharmaceuticals, customs and textiles to smoothly implement the KORUS FTA.

The arrangement with respect to steel imports is expected to take effect on May 1, 2018.

This represents important progress in improving U.S.-Korea trade and economic relations, based on their strong and enduring security relationship.

Administration to exempt certain countries from the steel and aluminum tariffs

On March 22, 2018, USTR Robert Lighthizer announced at a Senate Finance Committee hearing that the administration would exempt the European Union, Australia, Argentina, Brazil and South Korea from the 25% steel and 10% aluminum tariffs set to take effect on March 23, 2018.

Commerce issues rules on requesting exclusions from the aluminum and steel tariff proclamations

On March 19, 2018, the Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), Department of Commerce, published in the Federal Register an interim final rule [Docket No. 180227217–8217–01] that amends the National Security Industrial Base Regulations to add two new supplements. The new supplements set forth the process for how parties in the United States may submit requests for exclusions from actions taken by the President ("exclusion requests") to protect national security from threats resulting from imports of specified articles. The new supplements also set forth the requirements and process for how parties in the United States may submit objections to the granting of an exclusion request.

The supplements are being added to implement Presidential Proclamations 9704 and 9705 of March 8, 2018 ("Proclamations"), adjusting imports of steel articles identified in Proclamation 9705 ("steel") and aluminum articles identified in Proclamation 9704 ("aluminum") through the imposition of duties so that imports of steel articles and aluminum articles will no longer threaten to impair the national security. As set forth in the Proclamations, the President concurred with the findings of the Secretary of Commerce ("Secretary") in two reports to the President on the investigations under section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, as amended, of the effect of imports of steel and aluminum, respectively, on the national security of the United States. The Proclamations authorize the Secretary to grant exclusions from the duties upon request of affected parties if the steel or aluminum articles are determined not to be produced in the United States in a sufficient and reasonably available amount or of a satisfactory quality or based upon specific national security considerations. The President directed the Secretary to promulgate regulations as may be necessary to set forth the procedures for an exclusion process.

Note: The process described for the two new supplements is separate and apart from the process by which countries may seek exemptions from the duties imposed by the President. The process established in the interim final rule is limited to the issuance of product-based exclusions as authorized by the President. Consistent with the President's instructions, the criteria in the forms and supplements are primarily focused on the availability of the product in the United States. The Secretary will consider information about supply in other countries to the extent relevant to determining whether specific national security considerations warrant an exclusion. Commenters on this interim final rule may submit comments regarding how and whether or not the country of origin of a proposed product should be considered by Commerce as part of the process for reviewing product-based exclusion requests. Comments on the interim final rule must be received by BIS no later than May 18, 2018.

All exclusion requests and objections to submitted exclusion requests must be in electronic form and submitted to the Federal rulemaking portal using docket number BIS–2018–0002 for aluminum and docket number BIS–2018–0006 for steel. Any company potentially interested in seeking an exclusion for one or more articles covered by the section 232 duties should review the notice. In particular, there are a number of key items worth noting:

- (1) exclusion petitions may be submitted only by "individuals or organizations using [steel or aluminum] articles . . . in business activities . . . in the United States";
- (2) objections to exclusion petitions may be submitted by "any individual or organization in the United States";
- (3) any approved exclusion petitions will be limited to a specific article and to the petitioner (i.e., you cannot generally get the benefit of someone else's exclusion petition unless Commerce approves a broader application of the product based exclusion request to apply to additional importers); you can, however, file "follow-on" petitions;
- (4) exclusions petitions must be filed electronically, using a specific form* created for this purpose; objections must be filed within 30 days of an exclusion petition being filed, also using a specific form; petitions can cover only a single 10-digit Harmonized Tariff Schedule classification; and the review process will generally take 90 days from date of filing; and
- (5) approved exclusions will be effective 5 business days after the approval is published; and will "generally" be good for 1 year.
- * Request for Exclusion from Remedies from the Section 232 National Security Investigation of Imports of Steel (exclusion request form steel)

-  Response Form for Organizations Filing Objections to Posted Section 232 Exclusion Requests Steel (objection filing form steel).
- * Request for Exclusion from Remedies from the Section 232 National Security Investigation of Imports of Aluminum (exclusion request form- aluminum).
-  Response Form for Organizations Filing Objections to Posted Section 232 Exclusion Requests Aluminum (objection filing form aluminium).

The exclusion and objection process is explained and a contact number at BIS is provided on the BIS Sec. 232 Aluminum website and the Sec. 232 Steel website.

Product exclusion petitions will only be approved "if an article is not produced in the United States in a sufficient and reasonably available amount, is not produced in the United States in a satisfactory quality, or for a specific national security consideration." We expect that Commerce will approve petitions only sparingly, and primarily for valid national security-related considerations. Commerce states that individuals and organizations will not be precluded from submitting a request for exclusion of a product where a previous exclusion request for the same product had been denied or is no longer valid. For example, it might be that the first exclusion request was inadequate to demonstrate the criteria were met for approving that exclusion request. The later requester should, however, submit new or different information in an attempt to meet the criteria for approving an exclusion request for that product.

Product based exclusions may be filed beginning March 19, 2018. If you are considering doing so, we recommend filing as soon as possible. That said, it is important that your petition be as well prepared as possible (e.g., consider scope issues, the import data, whether there are any national security implications/allies in the federal government, any likely objections, etc.) to give it the best chance of success. We are assisting many clients prepare petitions and would be happy to discuss this with you further. If you are interested in doing so, please let us know. Please contact Ted Murphy or any member of the US Customs group for assistance or for additional information.

USTR to continue Intergovernmental Policy Advisory Committee on Trade; seeks nominations

On March 1, 2018, the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) published in the Federal Register a notice announcing that it is establishing a new four-year charter term and accepting applications from qualified individuals interested in serving as a member of the Intergovernmental Policy Advisory Committee on Trade (IGPAC). The IGPAC is a trade advisory committee that provides general policy advice and guidance to the United States Trade Representative on issues involving trade and development that have a significant relationship to the affairs of U.S. state and local governments.

USTR will accept nominations on a rolling basis for membership on the IGPAC for the four-year charter term beginning in April 2018. To ensure consideration before the new charter term, you should submit you application by March 28, 2018.

CBP and Mexican agencies sign agreements

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) announced that on March 26, 2018, DHS Secretary Nielsen and other officials met with their Mexican counterparts in Mexico City to discuss economic and national security issues affecting both the United States and Mexico. During these meetings three agreements were signed. U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Commissioner Kevin McAleenan and the Tax Administration Service (SAT) Chief Osvaldo Santin signed a Memorandum of Cooperation (MOC) on Customs and Trade Enforcement, which will facilitate the development and implementation of joint and coordinated programs aimed at increasing trade and customs compliance, as well as combating illicit activities.

Additionally, CBP and SAT signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on Cargo Pre-Inspection Program and Unified Cargo Processing (UCP). This MOU states the bilateral commitment for the further implementation of cargo-pre inspection and UCP programs, through which Mexican customs officers and CBP officers will work together to inspect and process cargo shipments.

Lastly, CBP and the National Service for Agro-Alimentary Public Health, Safety and Quality (SENASICA) signed an MOU to enable collaboration between the two agencies on agriculture safeguarding, agriculture quarantine inspections at ports of entry, and information sharing. The MOU promotes cooperation and information sharing to enabling the U.S. to handle legitimate and safe shipments while addressing those that pose a risk.

CBP Commissioner confirmed by Senate

On March 19, 2018, the U.S. Senate confirmed Kevin K. McAleenan to be Commissioner of U.S. Customs and Border Protection by a vote of 77-19.

CBP extends NCAP eBond test

On March 21, 2018, US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) published in the Federal Register a general notice announcing the extension of CBP's National Customs Automation Program (NCAP) test concerning the automation of CBP's bond program (eBond test). CBP announced the eBond test in a Federal Register notice published on November 28, 2014. The test program has run continuously and without interruption since it commenced on January 3, 2015, and continues to run currently. This notice informs interested members of the public that CBP is extending the test until further notice.

CBP posts draft interim guidance on filing TFTEA drawback claims

In CSMS # 18-000243 (March 27, 2018), CBP announced the posting of Drawback: Interim Guidance for Filing TFTEA Drawback Claims, Version 3, March, 2018. This guidance document is considered a draft, reflecting CBP's tentative and conditional framework for drawback pending the issuance of a final rule to implement the regulatory changes pending for Drawback claims under the Trade Facilitation and Trade Enforcement Act of 2015 (TFTEA). The document will be revised before a final version is provided. Any decisions a reader makes based on this draft document are taken voluntarily and with the understanding that the policies and procedures might change via the notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) and final rule process. Any subsequent revisions will be made, as needed, until the TFTEA Drawback regulations become effective. CBP cautions that the reader is responsible for monitoring the CBP website to ensure awareness of the status of any revisions to the document. Revisions from earlier draft are listed on the "Change Tracker" pages.

CBP releases e-Commerce Strategy

On March 8, 2018, US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) released a 10-page document entitled, "E-Commerce Strategy." The document states that CBP must adapt to the changing ways business is conducted due to the increasing volume of low-value packages driven by consumer e-commerce. The shift from traditional methods of importing via large containerized shipments to small, low value packages has presented new challenges for CBP and requires new methods and resources for CBP to continue to carry out its mission of facilitating trade and enforcing trade laws. CBP has developed its e-commerce strategy to advance four primary goals, each of which is explained in more detail in the document:

- Enhance legal and regulatory authorities to better posture CBP and interagency partners to address emerging threats;
- Enhance and adapt all affected CBP operations to respond to emerging supply chain dynamics created by the rapid growth of e-commerce;
- Drive private sector compliance through enforcement resources and incentives; and
- Facilitate international trade standards for e-commerce to support economic prosperity.

In addition to the E-Commerce Strategy publication, CBP has prepared a two-page fact sheet on the strategy.

CBP publications and fact sheets

During the period of coverage of this Update, CBP issued the following new or revised publications and fact sheets:

- Business Rules and Process Document ACE Entry Summary (Trade version 8.0d)
- E-Commerce Strategy (CBP Publication No. 0685-0218)
- CBP E-Commerce Strategy Fact Sheet (CBP Publication #0688-0318)
- ACE Monthly Trade Update (March 2018)
- DRAFT Interim ACE Drawback Guidance

Revocations or modifications of CBP rulings

CBP did not publish any revocations or modifications, or proposals to revoke or modify, rulings during the past month.

Census publishes FTR Letter No. 10 - annotating the Electronic Manifest Pilots for CBP

The Census Bureau's International Trade Management Division (ITMD) is announcing the publication of the Foreign Trade Regulations (FTR) Letter No. 10 - Annotating the Electronic Manifest Pilots for U.S. Customs and Border Protection. This letter is to provide guidance on the appropriate annotations to be used when submitting export manifest data electronically. As many of you are aware, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) is conducting pilots to test the functionality regarding the filing of export manifest data for air, rail, and ocean cargo electronically to the Automated Commercial Environment (ACE).

The Census Bureau, CBP and the trade have developed guidance to ensure that a standard format is reported in the electronic manifest. On June 2, 2018 the codes in the chart are the only acceptable codes to be used in the electronic manifests. You must submit the code exactly as it appears in the chart. For filers who are submitting paper manifests, the current annotation identified in the FTR remains appropriate. Since the bill of lading and air waybill are paper documents, the codes identified in the chart may be preceded with AES (i.e. AES 37A) for clarity purposes if the current annotation (i.e. NOEEI 30.37(a)) is not used.

FTR Letter No. 10 and the chart referenced above can be found in its entirety here. For further information or questions regarding the letter, contact the Trade Regulations Branch (TRB), ITMD.

Treasury, State, and Commerce annual increase in civil monetary penalties

The US Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC"), the US State Department's Directorate of Defense Trade Control ("DDTC"), and the US Commerce Department's Bureau of Industry and Security ("BIS") have announced increases in the maximum civil monetary penalties ("CMPs") under the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act Improvements Act of 2015 ("2015 Act"). This statute requires the agencies to make such adjustments annually by January 15 of each year. These newly adjusted CMPs may be imposed for violations of OFAC sanctions regulations, the International Traffic in Arms Regulations, and the Export Administration Regulations ("EAR").

OFAC CMP Adjustments

Under OFAC's Final Rule published on March 19, 2018, the adjusted penalties apply to CMPs that are assessed after March 19, 2018, regardless of whether the underlying violation predates the increase, as long as the violation occurred after November 2, 2015 (i.e., the date of the enactment of the 2015 Act). In other words, violations that occur after November 2, 2015 will be assessed at the newest CMPs. For violations that occurred before this date, the original CMPs will be used. The specific OFAC penalty adjustments for each relevant statute (as well as the 2016 "catch-up" adjustment and 2017 adjustments, for reference) are as follows:

Statute	Original Maximum CMP (per violation)	2016 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)	2017 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)	2018 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)
Trading with the Enemy Act	$65,000	$83,864	$85,236	$86,976
International Emergency Eco- nomic Powers Act ("IEEPA")	The greater of $250,000 or twice the amount of the underlying trans- action	The greater of $284,582 or twice the amount of the underlying trans- action	The greater of $289,238 or twice the amount of the underlying trans- action	The greater of $295,141 or twice the amount of the underlying trans- action
Foreign Narcotics Kingpin Designa- tion Act	$1,075,000	$1,414,020	$1,437,153	$1,466,485
Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996	The greater of $55,000 or twice the amount of which a financial institution was required to retain possession or control	The greater of $75,122 or twice the amount of which a financial institution was required to retain possession or control	The greater of $76,351 or twice the amount of which a financial institute was required to retain possession or control	The greater of $77,909 or twice the amount of which a financial institute was required to retain possession or control
Clean Diamond Trade Act	$10,000	$12,856	$13,066	$13,333

DDTC CMP Adjustments

DDTC published its CMP adjustments in a Final Rule on January 3, 2018. Unlike OFAC, DDTC will apply the increased CMPs to all penalties assessed on or after the date of the final rule, January 3, 2018, regardless of when the underlying violation occurred. The penalties assessed by DDTC for violations of specific sections within the Arms Export Control Act ("AECA") (as well as the 2016 "catch-up" adjustment and 2017 adjustments, for reference) are as follows:

AECA Section	Original Maxi- mum CMP	2016 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)	2017 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)	2018 Adjusted Maximum CMP (per violation)
22 USC. § 2778(e) (control of exports and imports)	$500,000	$1,094,010	$1,111,908	$1,134,602
22 USC. § 2779a(c) (prohibition on incentive payments)	$500,000	$795,445	$808,458	$824,959
22 USC. § 2780(k) (transactions with countries supporting acts of international terrorism)	$500,000	$946,805	$962,295	$981,935

BIS CMP Adjustments

Finally, the US Commerce Department made adjustments to a number of CMPs in a Final Rule issued on January 8, 2018, which went into effect on January 15, 2018. Among these was an adjustment to CMPs for violations of IEEPA, the statute under which the EAR as well as most OFAC sanctions are enforced. The maximum CMP for violations of the EAR is the same as the CMP for violations of IEEPA announced by OFAC – $295,141 or twice the amount of the underlying transaction per violation. As with DDTC, these increased CMPs apply to all penalties assessed after the date of the Final Rule's publication (i.e., January 15, 2018) regardless of when the underlying violation occurred.

BIS revises Entity List to add 15 South Sudanese parties following imposition of arms embargo against South Sudan

On March 22, 2018, the US Department of Commerce's Bureau of Industry and Security ("BIS") issued a final rule [Docket No. 180227219-8219-01] (the "Final Rule") adding, in relevant part, 15 South Sudanese entities to the Export Administration Regulations' ("EAR") Entity List — a step that increases the pressure on that country following the US Government's imposition of an arms embargo last month. All 15 entities are subject to a license requirement for all exports, reexports, or in-country transfers of items subject to the EAR, and new license applications for these entities are subject to a presumption of denial.

The entities are as follows:

- Ascom Sudd Operating Company;
- Dar Petroleum Operating Company;
- DietsmannNile;
- Greater Pioneer Operating Co. Ltd;
- Juba Petrotech Technical Services Ltd;

- Nile Delta Petroleum Company;
- Nile Drilling and Services Company;
- Nile Petroleum Corporation;
- Nyakek and Sons;
- Oranto Petroleum;
- Safinat Group;
- SIPET Engineering and Consultancy Services;
- South Sudan Ministry of Mining;
- South Sudan Ministry of Petroleum; and
- Sudd Petroleum Operating Co.

These entities are government, parastatal, and private companies involved in oil-related activities that have contributed to the ongoing crisis in South Sudan. According to statements issued by BIS and the US Department of State, the 15 designated entities are a source of substantial revenue for the Government of South Sudan that it uses to purchase weapons and fund militias undermining the peace, security, and stability of South Sudan. The designations are intended to ensure that items subject to the EAR are not used to generate revenue for the Government of South Sudan and thus indirectly finance the continuing violence in that country.

These designations follow the February 2018 amendments to the International Traffic in Arms Regulations ("ITAR") to impose an arms embargo against South Sudan. The ITAR amendments updated the US Government's defense trade policy toward South Sudan by applying a policy of denial to all exports and reexports of defense articles or services to South Sudan. A case-by-case review policy applies in limited circumstances, including where the defense articles are (a) for peacekeeping operations, (b) intended for use by the African Regional Task Force or United Nations, (c) intended for use by non-governmental organizations in furtherance of certain conventional weapons destruction activities, (d) non-lethal defense articles for humanitarian use, (e) personal protective equipment, or (f) provided in support of certain South Sudanese peace agreements.

For additional information, contact the authors Lise S. Test, Joseph A. Schrool or Inessa Owens or any member of the US Outbound Trade practice.

In addition to the South Sudanese entities, the final rule adds 7 Pakistani and 1 Singaporean entity who have been determined by the U.S. Government to be acting contrary to the national security or foreign policy interests of the United States. This rule also removes one person under the destination of Ecuador and one person under the destination of the United Arab Emirates (U.A.E.) from the Entity List. Both removals are the result of requests for removal received by BIS pursuant to the section of the EAR used for requesting removal or modification of an Entity List entry and a review of information provided in the removal requests. Lastly, this rule corrects the license requirement for twelve entities that were added under the destination of Russia as part of a recent BIS rule.

OFAC requests comments on effectiveness of licensing procedures for exportation of agricultural commodities, medicine, and medical devices to Sudan and Iran

On March 22, 2018, the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) published in the Federal Register a request for comments on the effectiveness of OFAC's licensing procedures for the exportation of agricultural commodities, medicine, and medical devices to Sudan and Iran. Pursuant to section 906(c) of the Trade Sanctions Reform and Export Enhancement Act of 2000, OFAC is required to submit a biennial report to the Congress on the operation of licensing procedures for such exports. Written comments should be received on or before April 23, 2018, to be assured of consideration.

US Government sanctions parties for Russian cyber attacks and US 2016 election interference

On March 15, 2018, OFAC added 14 individuals and one entity, the so-called Russian "troll farm" Internet Research Agency LLC ("IRA"), to the Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons List ("SDN List"). OFAC announced a total of 24 designations against persons pursuant to Executive Order ("EO") 13694 (issued April 1, 2015 and amended December 29, 2016), which is the "Cyber EO" that targets certain "malicious cyber-enabled activities," and pursuant to Section 224 of the Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act ("CAATSA"), which specifically targets cyber actors who operate on behalf of the Russian government. Nine of the 24 persons identified in OFAC's announcement were already included on the SDN List. Please see our prior blog post on CAATSA here and prior blog posts on the Cyber EO and its amendment here, here, and here.

As a result of these designations, "US Persons" (i.e., (i) US citizens and permanent resident aliens / Green Card holders, wherever located or employed; (ii) entities organized under the laws of the United States, their non-US branches, and employees of the foregoing; and (iii) any individual or entity physically located in the United States, even temporality) are prohibited from directly or indirectly dealing with or facilitating virtually any transactions with these SDNs as well as any entities 50% or more owned by them. Any property and interests in property of such SDNs must also be blocked (or "frozen") if they come within the United States or the possession or control of a US Person, including but not limited to a US financial institution clearing or otherwise handling US dollar transactions that involve these SDNs.

In its press release, OFAC stated that these designations are part of the US Government's efforts to counter malicious Russian cyber activity, including interference in the 2016 US elections, destructive cyber attacks including the NotPetya ransomware attack, and cyber intrusions targeting US critical infrastructure. OFAC's announcement was made on the same day that the Department of Homeland Security and the Federal Bureau of Investigation issued a joint Technical Alert regarding Russian cyber attacks on the US energy, nuclear, water, aviation, and manufacturing sectors.

EO 13694 Designations

OFAC designated the IRA along with two other entities and 13 individuals associated with the IRA pursuant to EO 13694. These parties were the subject of the indictment announced on February 16, 2018 by the Special Counsel for the Department of Justice investigating Russian interference in the 2016 US election. OFAC's press release states that the IRA tampered with or altered information in order to interfere with the 2016 US election, and unlawfully used personally identifiable information from US Persons to open financial accounts to help fund its operations.

CAATSA Designations

In addition to the EO 13694 designations, OFAC designated two entities and six individuals pursuant to Section 224 of CAATSA. The designated entities are the Federal Security Service ("FSB") and the Main Intelligence Directorate ("GRU"), both of which were previously designated as SDNs under EO 13694 (as amended).

Cyber General License No. 1A

In conjunction with the designations described above, OFAC amended Cyber General License No. 1, "Authorizing Certain Transactions with the Federal Security Service" ("GL 1") and reissued it as Cyber General License No. 1A ("GL 1A") to add CAATSA authorities and ensure the scope of activities authorized with respect to the FSB would not be affected by its additional designation under Section 224 of CAATSA. GL 1A continues to authorize certain limited, primarily administrative, transactions with the FSB. Our blog post on GL 1 can be found here.

State issues sanctions against N. Korea for use of chemical weapons

On March 5, 2018, the Department of State published in the Federal Register a determination [Public Notice: 10340], pursuant to Sections 306(a), 307(a), and 307(d) of the Chemical and Biological Weapons Control and Warfare Elimination Act of 1991, as amended (22 U.S.C. 5604(a) and Sec 5605(a)), that the Government of North Korea has used chemical weapons in violation of international law or lethal chemical weapons against its own nationals. The following is notice of sanctions to be imposed as required by law.

- 1. Foreign Assistance: Termination of assistance to North Korea under the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, except for urgent humanitarian assistance and food or other agricultural commodities or products.
- 2. Arms Sales: Termination of (a) sales to North Korea under the Arms Export Control Act of any defense articles, defense services, or design and construction services, and (b) licenses for the export to North Korea of any item on the United States Munitions List.

- 3. Arms Sales Financing: Termination of all foreign military financing for North Korea under the Arms Export Control Act.
- 4. Denial of United States Government Credit or Other Financial Assistance: Denial to North Korea of any credit, credit guarantees, or other financial assistance by any department, agency, or instrumentality of the United States Government, including the Export-Import Bank of the United States.
- 5. Exports of National Security- Sensitive Goods and Technology: Prohibition on the export to North Korea of any goods or technology on that part of the control list established under section 2404(c)(1) of the Appendix to Title 50.

The determination states that the measures shall be implemented by the responsible departments and agencies of the United States Government and will remain in place for at least one year and until further notice. The measures appear to be largely symbolic since US- North Korean trade is virtually non-existent and the two countries do not have diplomatic relations.

OFAC reissues North Korea Sanctions Regulations and publishes new FAQs

On March 1, 2018, OFAC announced the amendment and reissuance in their entirety of the North Korea Sanctions Regulations, 31 C.F.R. Part 510 ("NKSR"). The Final Rule can be found here. These changes to the NKSR took effect on March 5, 2018 upon publication in the Federal Register. OFAC also published 13 new FAQs, which can be found here.

This development does not reflect substantive changes to existing OFAC regulatory requirements. Rather, these changes are primarily designed to expand on the existing NKSR, originally published in an abbreviated form, and to incorporate the various sanctions measures targeting the Democratic People's Republic of Korea ("North Korea") adopted by the US Government over the last few years. Below we explain the scope of these changes and highlight a few key points of interest.

Clarifying Sanctions Restrictions Targeting North Korea

When first implementing new sanctions programs, OFAC regularly issues "skeleton" regulations containing high level summaries of the applicable prohibitions and referencing and attaching relevant executive orders. This was the strategy taken by OFAC when it first issued the NKSR in November 2010. At that time, OFAC indicated that it would prepare a more comprehensive set of regulations in the future.

The reissued NKSR announced on March 1, 2018 are the long-awaited, more complete set of regulations. The reissued NKSR now incorporate the underlying legal requirements of relevant executive orders and add and expand on provisions that are intended to provide a more comprehensive set of regulations, including additional definitional and interpretive guidance.

In addition, the reissued NKSR incorporate more recent legislative and executive actions targeting North Korea. These include:

 The North Korea Sanctions and Policy Enhancement Act of 2016 (see prior blog post here);

- The Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act of 2017 ("CAATSA") (see prior blog post here);
- Executive Order 13687 of January 2, 2015 ("Imposing Additional Sanctions with Respect to North Korea") (see prior blog post here);
- Executive Order 13722 of March 15, 2016 ("Blocking Property of the Government of North Korea and the Workers' Party of Korea, and Prohibiting Certain Transactions With Respect to North Korea") (see prior blog post here); and
- Executive Order 13810 of September 20, 2017, ("Imposing Additional Sanctions With Respect to North Korea") (see prior blog post here).

Explanation of Available Exemptions

Many OFAC sanctions regulations include language identifying certain categories of exempt transactions provided for by statute—including the International Emergency Economic Powers Act ("IEEPA"), which is the law under which most US sanction programs are issued. Sanctions targeting North Korea, however, have historically been based on executive orders issued under a combination of IEE-PA and other statutes, including the United Nations Participation Act ("UNPA"). This is significant because OFAC has long advised that sanctions programs issued under the authority of both the UNPA and IEEPA are not subject to IEEPA's statutory exemptions.

Section 510.213 of the reissued NKSR now includes the statutory exemptions set forth in IEEPA (e.g., the informational materials exemption, personal communications exemption, and travel exemption), but provides that these exemptions do not apply to transactions involving persons blocked under UNPA authority. According to this section, "persons blocked pursuant to the authority of the UNPA" include parties "listed" on both OFAC's List of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons ("SDN List") and the UN Security Council Sanctions List, as well as persons "listed" on the SDN List because they are owned or controlled by, or acting on behalf of, such persons (collectively, "UNPA SDNs"). The reissued regulations do not clarify, however, whether the IEEPA exemptions are available for transactions with parties blocked by operation of law under OFAC rules because they are 50% or more owned by one or more UNPA SDNs even though not "listed" as such on the SDN List.

New "Correspondent Account or Payable-Through Account Sanctions List"

In a note to NKSR § 510.210, which sets forth prohibitions regarding correspondent or payable-through accounts for certain foreign financial institutions, OFAC advises that a new "Correspondent Account or Payable-Through Account Sanctions List" ("CAPTA List") will be maintained on OFAC's website and published in the Federal Register. This list, which has not otherwise been announced or published by OFAC, will reportedly identify foreign financial institutions (a) that are prohibited from opening or maintaining correspondent accounts or payable-through accounts in the United States or (b) for which maintaining a correspondent account or payable-through account is subject to any strict conditions.

Definition of "Significant Transactions"

Many of the executive orders targeting North Korea authorize the designation as SDNs of parties that engage in "significant transactions" with targeted persons. While this term is used often in other sanctions regimes, it is not always defined.

Section 510.413 of the revised NKSR provides guidance as to how OFAC will determine whether a transaction is "significant." This guidance is similar to language found in the Iranian Financial Sanctions Regulations, 31 C.F.R. Part 561, and published by OFAC when interpreting CAATSA sanctions targeting Russia (see FAQ 542).

New General Licenses

OFAC is also incorporating several new general licenses into the reissued NKSR.

- NKSR §§ 510.506, 510.508, 510.513, and 510.514 authorize certain transactions relating to investment and reinvestment of certain funds, payments for legal services from funds originating outside the United States, the official business of the Federal government, and official activities of international organizations
- NKSR § 510.519 authorizes certain transactions for a 10-day period related to closing a correspondent account or payable-through account for a foreign financial institution whose name is added to the forthcoming CAPTA List pursuant to the prohibition in § 510.211. This general license includes a reporting requirement pursuant to which a US financial institution that maintained a correspondent account or a payable through account for a foreign financial institution whose name is added to the CAPTA List must file a report with OFAC that provides full details on the closing of each such account within 30 days of the closure of the account.

Incorporation and Revision of Existing General Licenses

The reissued NKSR also consolidate, and in some cases amend, the general licenses that were previously posted only on OFAC's website. These general licenses have been removed from OFAC's website because they have been replaced and superseded in their entirety by the reissued NKSR.

Previous authorizations on personal remittances under General License 4 (now located in NKSR § 510.511) are amended to include a cap of $5,000 per year. OFAC also amended certain authorizations with respect to activities with NGOs under General License 5 (now located in NKSR § 510.512), to include an authorization relating to the exportation of food and medicines to harmonize with Department of Commerce authorities and to remove an authorization relating to educational activities.

CHINA (INCLUDING HONG KONG SAR)

China issues statement on its response to the US section 232 tariffs on steel and aluminum

On March 23, 2018, the Ministry of Commerce spokesperson released the following statement (original in Chinese, unofficial translation):

On March 23, 2018, the Ministry of Commerce issued a list of discontinuation concessions for US imports of steel and aluminum products 232 measures and solicited public opinions, intending to impose tariffs on certain products imported from the United States, in order to balance the Aluminum products impose tariffs on losses caused by Chinese interests. The spokesperson of the Ministry of Commerce made a statement on this.

This list tentatively contains 7 categories and 128 tax products. According to the 2017 statistics, it involves US exports to China of about 3 billion US dollars. The first part covers a total of 120 taxes involving US$977 million in US exports to China, including fresh fruit, dried fruit and nut products, wine, modified ethanol, American ginseng, and seamless steel pipes , and is expected to impose a 15% tariff. The second part covers a total of eight taxes involving US$1.992 billion of US exports to China, including pork and processed products, recycled aluminum, etc., and a 25% tariff is proposed.

The fact that the United States imposed tariffs of 25% and 10% on imported steel and aluminum products on the grounds of "national security" actually constitutes a safeguard measure. According to the relevant provisions of the WTO Agreement on Safeguard Measures, China has formulated a list of suspension of concessions. If China and the United States fail to reach a trade compensation agreement within the stipulated time, China will exercise the right to suspend concessions for the first part of the product; China will implement the second part list after further evaluating the impact of the US measures on China. China reserves the right to adjust measures based on actual conditions and will implement the necessary procedures in accordance with relevant WTO rules.

The United States' practice of restricting the import of products based on "national security" has severely damaged the multilateral trade system represented by the WTO and seriously interfered with the normal international trade order. It has been opposed by many WTO members. The Chinese side also negotiated with the United States through multiple levels and channels, and will take legal actions under the WTO framework to jointly maintain the stability and authority of the multilateral trade rules with other WTO members.

As the world's two largest economies, China and the United States are the only correct choice for cooperation between the two countries. They hope that both sides proceed from the overall interests of China and the United States, work toward one another, focus on cooperation, control disagreements, and jointly promote the healthy and stable development of China-US economic and trade relations. China urges the United States to resolve China's concerns as soon as possible, resolve differences through dialogue and consultation, and avoid harming the overall situation of Sino-U.S. cooperation.

KOREA

Korea-US FTA revisions agreed to in principle

On March 26, 2018, the S. Korean Ministry of Trade and Industry announced that the US and S. Korea and reach agreement "in principle" to amend the terms of the Korea-US Free Trade Agreement (frequently referred to as "KORUS"). The agreement would result in S. Korea being exempted from the US recently announced steel tariffs, but would be subject to a steel quota equal to about 2.68 million tons, or 70 percent of the average exports to the U.S. over the previous three years. South Korea was the third largest steel exporter to the U.S. as of 2017

The US would be able to extend its normal 25% duty on Korean pick up trucks until 2041 (20 years longer than originally agreed) and would be allowed to send an additional 25,000 US autos that meet US safety standards to S. Korea without meeting Korean safety standards. The Korean Trade minister said that the number of US vehicles imported to South Korea under the allowance hovered below 10,000 units last year. S. Korea will also consider the US standards when it revises its standards. Korean negotiators rejected demands for a higher US content requirement.

EU initiates steel safeguard investigation

On 26 March 2018, the Official Journal published a notice of initiation of a safeguard investigation concerning imports of steel products (2018/C 111/10) which states that the information currently available to the European Commission ('the Commission'), including the surveillance measures in place, has revealed that imports of certain steel products have recently increased sharply, showing that there is sufficient evidence that these trends in imports appear to call for safeguards measures. Accordingly, the Commission has decided to initiate ex officio a safeguard investigation, pursuant to Article 5 of Regulation (EU) 2015/478 of the European Parliament and of the Council and Article 3 of Regulation (EU) 2015/755 of the European Parliament and of the Council. The products subject to this investigation are certain steel products (the 'products concerned'), which are listed together with the CN codes within which they are currently classified, in Annex I to the Notice and below. Those CN codes are given for information purposes only.

In order to obtain the information it deems necessary for its investigation, the Commission will send questionnaires to the known producers of the like or directly competing products and to any known associations of producers, in the Union. The completed questionnaires must reach the Commission within 21 days from the date on which they are sent.

All interested parties including exporting producers, importers and users of the products concerned and their associations are invited to make known their views in writing, submit information and to provide supporting evidence. Representations in a free format should be submitted within 21 days of the date of publication of this Notice in the Official Journal of the European Union. Interested parties may make themselves known by contacting the Commission, preferably by email, immediately but no later than 15 days after the publication of this Notice in the Official Journal of the European Union, and request a questionnaire. The completed questionnaire should be submitted within 21 days from the date on which they are sent.

Any submission of views and information after the above deadlines may be disregarded. Deadlines and instructions for making written submissions and sending completed questionnaires and correspondence are set forth in the notice, together with addresses, including email addresses. Applications to be heard at a hearing must be made within 21 days of the date of publication in the Official Journal.

If the Commission determines that measures are necessary, the Commission shall take the necessary decisions in accordance with Chapter V of Regulations (EU) 2015/478 and (EU) 2015/755 respectively, no later than nine months from the date of initiation, unless exceptional circumstances exist, in which case that time limit may be extended by a maximum period of two months.

Brexit: Council adopts guidelines for post-Brexit relations

The European Council (Art. 50) on 23 March 2018 adopted guidelines on the framework for post-Brexit relations with the UK: European Council (Art. 50) guidelines on the framework for the future EU-UK relationship, 23 March 2018.

Commission launches consultation on retaliation for US steel tariffs

On 16 March 2018, the European Commission launched a public consultation on possible retaliatory action to be taken if the EU was not exempt from the announced US tariff increases on imports of steel and aluminum. The deadline for input is 12:00 am was 26 March 2018. The DG Trade posted two lists of proposed products.

Part A includes products worth $3.5 billion that the EU can target with tariffs of 25 percent. Agricultural products featuring on the list include sweetcorn, corn, kidney beans, rice, peanut butter, cranberries, orange juice, Bourbon whiskey and whiskey.

Part B of the list is made up of products that may be affected by duties on imports from the United States in a second phase after three years, in response to the tariff on U.S. steel and aluminum imports. Agricultural products listed are Bourbon whiskey and whiskey. The total of the two lists could impact $7.9 billion in U.S. exports.

Brexit: Commission publishes revised draft Art. 50 withdrawal agreement

On 15 March 2018, the Commission released a revised "Draft Agreement on the withdrawal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland from the European Union and the European Atomic Energy Community", which was sent to the UK authorities and will form the basis of the EU's negotiation for the United Kingdom's exit from the European Union. The draft includes a protocol on Ireland and Northern Ireland which recognizes the island's unique status. See below for our summary of the 28 February Draft agreement.

Common Military List updated

On 15 March 2018, the Official Journal published the Common Military List of the European Union adopted by the Council on 26 February 2018 (2018/C 098/01). The List updates and replaces the Common Military List of the European Union adopted by the Council on 6 March 2017 and describes equipment covered by Council Common Position 2008/944/CFSP defining common rules governing the control of exports of military technology and equipment.

European Commission outlines EU plan to counter US trade restrictions on steel and aluminium

The European Commission announced that on 7 March 2018, the College of Commissioners discussed the EU's response to the possible US import restrictions for steel and aluminium announced on 1 March. The EU stands ready to react proportionately and fully in line with the World Trade Organisation (WTO) rules in case the US measures are formalised and affect EU's economic interests. The College gave its political endorsement to the proposal presented by President Jean-Claude Juncker, Vice-President Jyrki Katainen and Commissioner for Trade Cecilia Malmström. Speaking after the College meeting, Commissioner Malmström said:

We still hope, as a USA security partner, that the EU would be excluded. We also hope to convince the US administration that this is not the right move. As no decision has been taken yet, no formal action has been taken by the European Union. But we have made clear that if a move like this is taken, it will hurt the European Union. It will put thousands of European jobs in jeopardy and it has to be met by firm and proportionate response. Unlike these proposed US duties, our three tracks of work are in line with our obligations in the WTO. They will be carried out by the book. The root cause of the problem in the steel and aluminium sector is global overcapacity. It is rooted in the fact that a lot of steel and aluminium production takes place under massive state subsidies, and under non-market conditions. This can only be addressed by cooperation, getting to the source of the problem and working together. What is clear is that turning inward is not the answer. Protectionism cannot be the answer, it never is.

The announcement said that the EU remains available to continue working on this together with the United States. The EU has been and remains a strong supporter of an open and rules-based global trade system.

Commission proposes Union Customs Code amendment

On 5 March 2018, the European Commission (Taxation and Customs Union) announced that on 2 March 2018, the European Commission proposed that customs authorities and economic operators be allowed to continue using, until 2025 at the latest, already existing systems for the completion of certain customs formalities. While most of the new or upgraded electronic systems that are necessary to apply the provisions of the UCC will be operational by 2020, some electronic systems may not be fully completed until 2025. Therefore this proposal would ensure that, in the case of the small number of customs formalities to be managed by the electronic systems that will not be completed by 2020, already existing electronic systems or paper-based procedures can continue to be used until the new systems are ready.

The Commission has therefore formally proposed that Article 278 UCC is amended to allow the continued part-use of transitional measures until 2025 at the latest.

Brexit: European Commission publishes draft Article 50 Withdrawal Agreement

On 28 February 2018, the European Commission published the draft Withdrawal Agreement between the European Union and the United Kingdom. The press release accompanying the release of the draft Withdrawal Agreement states:

The draft Withdrawal Agreement translates into legal terms the Joint Report from the negotiators of the European Union and the United Kingdom Government on the progress achieved during phase 1 of the negotiations, published on 8 December 2017, and proposes text for those outstanding withdrawal issues which are mentioned in, but not set out in detail, in the Joint Report. It also integrates the text on the transition period, based on the supplementary negotiating directives adopted by the Council (Article 50) on 29 January 2018.

The draft Withdrawal Agreement consists of six parts – including introductory provisions, citizens' rights, other separation issues such as goods placed on the market before the withdrawal date, the financial settlement, transitional arrangements, and institutional provisions – and a protocol on Ireland / Northern Ireland. This protocol operationalises the third option outlined in the Joint Report, in order to avoid a hard border on the island of Ireland. This is the fall-back solution of the Joint Report, which applies in the absence of other agreed solutions. This draft protocol does not prejudge discussions on the other two options.

The draft Withdrawal Agreement is published online in accordance with the Commission's transparency policy. The Commission has presented the draft Withdrawal Agreement now to first allow for time for consultation with the Member States and the European Parliament and, subsequently, for negotiation with the United Kingdom. Given that the Withdrawal Agreement needs to be agreed and ratified before the withdrawal of the United Kingdom, it is important to leave sufficient time for negotiation.

Next steps

The draft Withdrawal Agreement will now be sent to the Council (Article 50) and the European Parliament's Brexit Steering Group for discussion, before being transmitted to the United Kingdom for negotiation.

The European Council (Article 50) has called on the United Kingdom to provide further clarity on its position on the framework for the future relationship, with a view to its meeting on 22 and 23 March, where it is expected to adopt additional guidelines.

The overall Article 50 Withdrawal Agreement will need to be concluded by the Council (Article 50), the European Parliament, and the United Kingdom according to its own constitutional requirements.

The United Kingdom will leave the European Union on 30 March 2019.

Amendments to the Combined Nomenclature

On 14 March 2018, the Official Journal published Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2018/396 of 13 March 2018 amending Annex I to Council Regulation (EEC) No 2658/87 on the tariff and statistical nomenclature and on the Common Customs Tariff which amended Chapter 22 of Part Two of the Combined Nomenclature set out in Annex I to Regulation (EEC) No 2658/87, by replacing the second indent of Additional note 10 with the following:

'— fermented beverages otherwise put up, with an excess pressure of 3 bar or more, measured at a temperature of 20 °C.'.

The Regulation shall enter into force on the twentieth day following that of its publication in the Official Journal.

On 27 March 2018, the Official Journal published Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2018/507 of 26 March 2018 amending Annex I to Council Regulation (EEC) No 2658/87 on the tariff and statistical nomenclature and on the Common Customs Tariff which clarifies the classification of capsules, tablets, pastilles and pills made from products of Chapter 15, by adding an additional note to Chapter 15, in light of the judgment of the Court of Justice of the European Union in Joined Cases C-410/08 to C-412/08. The Court of Justice explained that, in the case of the goods concerned, the form of presentation is a decisive factor which reveals their function as a food supplement, since it determines the dosage of the edible preparations, the way in which they are absorbed and the place where they are supposed to become active. Consequently, the casing is a factor which, together with their content, determines the use and character of the respective goods. The fact that the raw materials of which the edible preparations are composed are partly covered by headings 1515 and 1517 of the CN does not preclude their classification under heading 2106. Headings 1515 and 1517 of the CN do not allow account to be taken of that characteristic of the goods.

In Chapter 15 of Part Two of the Combined Nomenclature set out in Annex I to Regulation (EEC) No 2658/87, the following Additional note 5 is added:

'5. Food preparations made from products of Chapter 15 presented in measured doses, such as capsules, tablets, pastilles and pills, intended for use as food supplements, are excluded from this Chapter. The essential character of a food supplement is not only given by its ingredients, but also by its specific form of presentation revealing its function as a food supplement, since it determines the dosage, the way in which it is absorbed and the place where it is supposed to become active. Such food preparations are to be classified under heading 2106 insofar as they are not specified or included elsewhere.'.

Amendments to the CN Explanatory Notes

See separate section below for amendments to the Explanatory Notes to the Combined Nomenclature of the European Union that were published in the Official Journal during the period covered by this Update.

Commission updates BTI issuing authorities

On 23 March 2018, the Official Journal published an updated list of customs authorities designated by Member States for the purposes of receiving applications, or taking decisions relating to binding tariff information (BTI) [2018/C 110/04], adopted in accordance with Article 11 of Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) 2015/2447

Binding Tariff Information

The European Community has created the Binding Tariff Information (BTI) system as a tool to assist economic operators to obtain the correct tariff classification for goods they intend to import or export.

Binding Tariff Information is issued on request to economic operators by the customs authorities of the Member States. It is valid throughout the Community, regardless of the Member State which issued it. For information about an existing BTI, you may want to contact the customs administration of the Member State which issued it. However, remember that, according to the provisions for data protection, there are limitations as to the information an administration can provide. You can search and consult existing BTIs on the EBTI-database.

Dutch publish guide on establishing ICP for export controls

The Dutch Government has prepared a Guidelines for drawing up an Internal Compliance Programme for Strategic and Anti-Torture Goods, Technology and Sanctions. The document (available only in Dutch), which is intended for exporters of strategic and sanction goods, is a guide for companies drawn up by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in close cooperation with the Central Import and Export Service of Customs (CDIU). It offers a guide to the implementation of an Internal Compliance Programme (ICP) for establish responsibility for compliance with the various laws and regulations governing the export of strategic and sanctioned goods.

This can be a useful tool for exporters of strategic technology. Dutch export control policy is based on international agreements and obligations have been implemented at national level on the basis of European legislation and regulations. The Netherlands have signed several treaties and adheres to international export control regimes, which have set the goal of distributing certain 'sensitive' goods worldwide regulate. The countries affiliated with these regimes make agreements about the export control policy, and checklists are drawn up. Sensitive goods include both dual-use (available here in English) and military goods (available here in English). Responsibility for responsible export control lies with both the business community and the industry competent authorities. The supervision of the export control of strategic goods is vested in the Dutch government. Detailed information about this can be found in the Handbook on Strategic Goods and Services. An important tool in shaping responsible export is an ICP.

SWITZERLAND

Switzerland adopts measures against Venezuela

On 28 March 2018, the Federal Council adopted restrictive measures against Venezuela. The measures adopted by the Federal Council include an arms and repressive goods embargo and financial and travel sanctions against Venezuela. It bans the sale, supply, export and transit to Venezuela of arms and goods which can be used for internal repression. A similar ban also applies to equipment, technology and software that can be used to monitor and intercept internet and telephone communications. Furthermore, assets have been frozen and entry and transit bans have been issued for listed natural persons, companies and organisations. These measures are currently directed against seven Venezuelan ministers and high-ranking officials. Assets frozen under the measures must be reported to SECO without delay.

By adopting the Ordinance of 28 March 2018, Switzerland is aligning itself with the EU sanctions against Venezuela. The measures described will enter into force at 6pm on 28 March.

QuickZoll: Customs clearance via smartphone

On 27 March 2018, the Federal Customs Administration (FCA) announced that it will enable customs clearance via smartphone from Easter onwards. This is one of the initial results of the DaziT transformation programme. According to the FCA, DaziT will systematically simplify and digitise FCA services for private individuals and companies by the end of 2026. Even for business DaziT is providing initial results: companies can now digitally submit accompanying documents for customs declarations. The announcement said:

Today private individuals declare their purchases abroad, holiday souvenirs and gifts for customs clearance verbally or in writing when crossing the border. This procedure is administratively complex and no longer timely. With the QuickZoll app, travellers will be able to declare their goods independently, digitally and regardless of location from Easter 2018 onwards. The first version of the application is limited to standard customs clearances, more complex cases should still be handled at the counter of manned border crossings. QuickZoll is available for the iOS and Android operating systems and can now be downloaded free of charge.

Initial results are also available for corporate clients. The enclosures to the customs declaration, previously only submitted in paper form, can now be transmitted digitally. The "e-accompanying document" application was developed in close cooperation with businesses and is currently being tested with pilot businesses and customs offices. The elimination of media disruptions leads to time and cost savings.

Even internally in the FCA, DaziT is showing initial results. In the coming months, two existing Border Guard applications will be ported to smartphones to better support mobile use. This will make controls more targeted and effective.

All solutions will be further developed and improved as the DaziT programme unfolds on the basis of customer feedback.

UNITED KINGDOM

UK will be able to negotiate trade agreements before exit from EU with effective date after implementation period.

On 19 March 2018, David Davis, Secretary of State for Exiting the EU stated as part of his summary on the Brexit negotiations that agreement has been reached so that UK will be "able to step out, sign and ratify new trade deals with old friends — and new allies — around the globe for the first time in more than 40 years. These will come into force when the implementation period is over."

For other provisions agreed to by negotiators, please see the annotated Draft Agreement.

UK issues guidance for seeking duty suspensions and tariff quotas

On 14 March 2018, the UK Department for International Trade posted updated guidance related to temporary duty suspensions and tariff quotas for importing raw materials, components and semi-finished products into the European Community. The guidance is reproduced below:

The European Union (EU) temporary duty suspensions and tariff quotas regime allows the duty free importation into the EU of raw materials, components and semifinished products which cannot be supplied (or supplied in sufficient quantities) from EU or Turkish manufacturers and are used in a process to make another product.

Suspensions allow unlimited quantities to be imported into the EU whereas quotas allow limited quantities to be imported. This regime cannot be used simply to import for resale.

Once granted, a suspension or quota can be used by any business in the EU - it is not specific to the company which applied. If your product is covered by an existing suspension or quota, you do not need to make a new request.

View the latest list of applications for duty suspensions and tariff quotas.

Application criteria

You can make an application if you are:

- an EU manufacturing user of the component in question
- a distributor applying on behalf of EU manufacturing customers
- EU company subsidiaries outside of the EU or Turkey
- an agent (lawyer, accountant or consultant) representing one of the abovenote that applications from agents must also include the name of the EU user to be considered and proof of their agreement to act on behalf of a manufacturer

You can apply for a duty suspension or tariff quota if all of the following apply to you:

- the component you are importing cannot be sourced or supplied in sufficient quantity - from within the EU or Turkey
- the component you are importing is to be further processed in an EU factory
- the level of import duty saving is at least €15,000 per year

Apply for duty suspension and tariff quota

Complete the Request for tariff suspension application form (MS Word Document, 86.5KB). Use the $\underline{\text{guidance notes}}$ (MS Word Document, 103KB) to help you complete the form.

Email your completed form to phil.walker@trade.gov.uk.

When you can apply

	new/amendment requests 1 st application period	new/amendment requests 2 nd application period
UK requests deadline	22 February	24 August
EU requests deadline	15 March	15 September
1st EU meeting to discuss requests	May	November
2nd EU meeting to discuss requests	June	December
3rd EU meeting to discuss requests	July	January
Entry into force of requested tariff suspensions or quotas	1 January	1 July

You can submit a request to increase the volume of an existing tariff quota at any time.

Application process: next steps

The Department for International Trade (DIT) will submit your application to the European Commission. The list is sent to trade associations to check if there is any EU manufacturing of the components for which a duty suspension has been requested. The name of the applicant is not made public nor is any of the information on an application other than the tariff code and description requested.

Requests are discussed at 3 working group meetings in Brussels (Economic Tariff Questions Group – ETQG). We will contact you if we require further information about your request, or if an objection is made.

Successful requests are valid for 5 years, after which time they are reviewed and may be renewed for a further 5 years.

If you make these components already

If you manufacture goods in the EU for which a duty suspension or quota is being requested or is currently in force, you can have it stopped by submitting a suspension objection form (MS Word Document, 38.9KB) .

You will have to prove that you currently make the goods in the EU (for example by making a sales offer to the applicant company). Price is not a consideration when oppositions are considered. Discussions between you and the applicant company should also take place to see if any compromise is possible. You will have to provide a sample to the applicant to prove your product can be replaced.

If you receive an objection to your request, you must contact the objecting company to discuss a compromise solution, as unless their objection is withdrawn your request will not be granted. The deadline for objections to new requests is by the second EU meeting. The deadline for objections to current measures is by the first EU meeting.

Current suspensions and quotas

The current tariff quota regulations are Council Regulation (EU) 2016/2389, Council Regulation (EC) 2017/1133 and Council Regulation (EU) 2017/2466.

The current duty suspension regulations are Council Regulation (EU) 2016/2390, Council Regulation (EC) 2017/1134 and Council Regulation (EU) 2017/2467.

European Commission Review for Duty Suspensions

The European Commission has published the list of duty suspensions expiring on 31 December 2018. It has listed suspensions for goods which are being automatically renewed, and those for which a review will be necessary. View the European Commission Review for Duty Suspensions list of goods (MS Excel Spreadsheet, 96.5KB).

You can submit a request for renewal of a tariff suspension (MS Word Document, 57KB). Return the completed form to phil.walker@trade.gov.uk at the Department for International Trade. The final date for submissions is 10 April 2018.

Contact phil.walker@trade.gov.uk if you have any enquiries regarding the review, list of goods or requests for renewal of tariff suspensions.

Third country fulfilment business provisions go into effect

On 8 March 2018, SI 2018/326 - The Fulfilment Businesses Regulations 2018 were published. SI 2018/298, The Finance (No. 2) Act 2017, Part 3 (Appointed Days) Regulations 2018 provides that these provisions, so far as not already brought into force by section 59(1)(a) of the Finance (No. 2) Act 2017, Part 3 come into force on 1st April 2019, except for Section 56. Section 56 amends section 13A(2) (customs and excise reviews and appeals relevant decisions) of, and Schedule 5 (decisions subject to review and appeal) to, the Finance Act 1994 (c. 9) and comes into force on 1 April 2018. The Explanatory Note accompanying the Regulations states:

Section 49(1) of the Finance (No. 2) Act 2017 provides that a person may not carry on a third country goods fulfilment business otherwise than in accordance with an approval given by the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs ("the Commissioners"). A person carries on a third country goods fulfilment business if they meet the test set out in section 48 of the Finance (No. 2) Act 2017.

The Regulations are in five Parts.

Part 1 of the Regulations contains introductory provisions, including provisions relating to communications with the Commissioners.

Part 2 of the Regulations deals with the approval process, including how and when to make an application for approval (regulation 4) and how the Commissioners will respond to an application (regulation 6). Part 2 also covers the procedure for variation and revocation of an approval.

Part 3 of the Regulations imposes obligations on approved persons.

The obligations imposed are that an approved person must:

- not start a new third country goods fulfilment business with a person, or continue an existing third country goods fulfilment business with a customer, if the approved person knows or has reasonable grounds to suspect is not meeting a VAT or customs duty obligation; the approved person must also notify the Commissioners when they become aware or suspect that a customer is not meeting those obligations (regulation 8),
- give notice to all third country customers (regulation 9),
- conduct due diligence checks on third country customers and maintain records of those checks (regulation 10),
- verify a third country customer's VAT registration number or VAT exemption reference number and notify the Commissioners of discrepancies (regulation 11),
- notify the Commissioners of changes in registered details (regulation 12), and
- tell the Commissioners when they cease to carry on a third country goods fulfilment business (regulation 13).

Part 4 of the Regulations is concerned with penalties for making late applications for approval and failing to comply with any condition or restriction to which an approval is subject and the obligations imposed under Part 3.

Part 5 of the Regulations revokes the Fulfilment Businesses (Approval Scheme) Regulations 2018.

ALGERIA

Algeria vehicle assembly

Algeria continues to encourage the local production of vehicles through SKD/CKD assembly (exportation of semi or completely knock down vehicles for local assembly) while eliminating import quotas for dealers for the second consecutive year. After many cabinet reshuffles, Executive Decree No. 17-344 setting forth the conditions and procedures for the activity of vehicle assembly and production and its specifications was published on November 28, 2017.

The Decree was meant to put an end to the uncertainty faced by foreign manufacturers and their Algerian partners who had been granted licenses at the discretion of the former Minister of Industry. However, several amendments to the Decree will be required due to numerous gaps and ambiguities in the text of the Executive Decree.

The list of operators claiming to invest in the automotive sector remains open to all investors. Indeed, the private Secretary of the Minister of Industry has recently indicated that the first list of 10 authorized operators, which had then been extended to 40 operators, would again be expanded to include all 83 projects currently under review. The official list of authorized manufacturers and their Algerian partners has yet to be released and will, in principle, concern all types of vehicles (tourism vehicles, cars, trucks, motorcycles, tanks and other machines).

In the meantime, letters have been issued to the investors to invite them submit their project to the National Agency for the Development of Investment (ANDI) in order to start the necessary formalities with the National investment Council (CNI).

TUNISIA

Tunisia to join COMESA

The Secretary General of the COMESA, the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa, has.announced that Tunisia should officially join the COMESA at the summit to be held on April 18 and 19, 2018 in Burundi. However, accession to the Free Trade Agreement (FTA) concluded by 15 of the 19 Member States of the COMESA will not be automatic for Tunisia.

In order to become a full participant and benefit from the elimination of import duties and quotas under the FTA – and not simply from preferential tariffs when goods originating in Tunisia are sold in other Member States of the COMESA FTA – Tunisia will have to modify its legislation. Laws will also need to be amended to achieve the customs union and adopt the common external tariff or the free movement of people.

Tunisia has not yet announced a timetable to bring its laws into conformity with COMESA's requirements. In the long run, if Tunisia were to become a full member of the COMESA FTA, it shall also benefit from the Tripartite Free Trade Agreement (TFTA) which brings together three economic regions which are working towards integration: COMESA, EAC (East African Community) and SADC (Southern African Development Community).

AFRICAN CONTINENTAL FREE TRADE AREA (AFCFTA) African countries launch AfCFTA

On 21 March 2018, in Rwanda, the following African countries signed the Agreement Establishing the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA) at the 10th Extraordinary Session of the African Union Assembly on the Launch of AfCFTA. The goal of the AfCFTA is to create a single market, followed by free movement and a single currency union. It is understood that the AfCFTA will be "built" in stages and will have protocols (such as Trade in Goods, Trade in Services, Intellectual Property Rights; Investment and Competition) and annexes added to it. Once all documents are concluded and ratified by 22 states, the free trade area will formally exist.

Notably absent was Nigeria, one of Africa's largest economies and its most populous country. Using Twitter, Nigeria's President Buhari said that "We will not agree to anything that will undermine local manufacturers and entrepreneurs, or that may lead to Nigeria becoming a dumping ground for finished goods." Although South Africa did not sign the AfCFTA text, it is committed to signing once internal legal processes are completed.

CBP determines eight companies evaded ADD through transshipping

On March 15, 2018, CBP issued a Notice of Final Determination as to Evasion of antidumping duties (ADD) to eight companies under Enforce and Protect Act ("EAPA") Consolidated Investigation No. 7191. The Notices were issued for evading ADD in in Case № A-570-918 relating to steel wire garment hangers from China that were transshipped through Malaysia. The Notices stated in pertinent part:

To reach a final determination of evasion in this case, CBP must:

make a determination, based on substantial evidence, with respect to whether such covered merchandise entered into the customs territory of the United States through evasion.

19 U.S.C. §1517(c)(1)(A). Evasion is defined as the "entry of covered merchandise into the customs territory of the United States for consumption by means of any document or electronically transmitted data or information, written or oral statement, or act that is material and false, or any omission that is material and that results in any cash deposit or other security or any amount of applicable antidumping or countervailing duties being reduced or not being applied with respect to the merchandise." See 19 C.F.R. §165.1. Thus, CBP must reach a determination as to whether merchandise subject to an antidumping or countervailing ("CVD") duty order was entered into the United States by the importer and such entry was made by a material false statement or act, or material omission that resulted in the reduction or avoidance of applicable AD/CVD cash deposits or other security. On their entry documents, the Companies subject to this investigation declared the country-of-origin for their imports of hangers as Malaysia. For the reasons described below, substantial evidence on the record of this investigation supports a determination that the Companies imported steel wire garment hangers that originated in China but were transshipped through Malaysia. Therefore, the Companies entered merchandise covered by an AD order, by false declaration, which resulted in the avoidance of applicable cash deposits and bonds.

[summary of findings

- CBP found no hanger production in Malaysia at addresses reported by the Companies for their alleged hanger manufacturers. The electricity bills presented to CBP were fraudulent.
- CBP found there was strong evidence that the hangers originated in China and that some of the companies had strong ties to Chinese manufacturers.
- Several companies were linked to each other]

CBP will continue to suspend the liquidation for any entry that has entered on or after May 12, 2017, the date of initiation of this investigation. CBP will also continue to extend the period for liquidation for all unliquidated entries that entered before that date. CBP will continue to require live entry, which requires that the importer post the applicable cash deposit prior to the entry's release. Finally, CBP will evaluate the continuous bonds of these companies in accordance with CBP's policies.

Baker McKenzie. 2018 Global Trade and Supply Chain Webinar Series Continuing Challenges in Global Trade

We are very pleased to announce our 15th annual Global Trade and Supply Chain Webinar Series entitled, "2018: Continuing Challenges in Global Trade". The series will include the latest international trade developments including the impact of the Trump presidency on trade policy, TPP and of Brexit. In addition to our usual topics of Customs and export controls/sanctions, we will also cover Human Rights, Forced Labor, and Ethical Supply Chains.

This year, we will again expand our usual program to include our Customs Academy, which will feature 6 "Customs 101" webinars (highlighted in green below). The Customs 101 program will be primarily aimed at participants who are new to Customs and/or those who would like a refresher and will include introductory sessions on key Customs topics such as tariff classification, valuation and origin; and an overview of Customs in some key jurisdictions.

Terrie Gleason, a partner in our San Francisco, CA office and Head of the Firm's Global Customs Focus Group, and Jenny Revis, a partner in our London office, will moderate these webinars and be joined by experts from across our global network.

All webinars will begin at 11:00 AM Eastern (US) and are scheduled to run approximately 90 minutes. If you reside in a different time zone and wish to verify your time - please click on the following link: www.timeanddate.com.

If you miss a webinar that has already been given, wish to see it again or want to download a presentation, you may do so at this new link or by clicking the blue title below which indicates the material has been posted. Webinars are usually posted approximately two weeks after the live presentation.

WTO TBT Notifications

Member countries of the World Trade Organization (WTO) are required under the Agreement on Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT Agreement) to report to the WTO all proposed technical regulations that could affect trade with other Member countries. The WTO Secretariat distributes this information in the form of "notifications" to all Member countries. This chart summarizes notifications in English posted by the WTO during the past month. If you are interested in obtaining copies of any of these notifications, please contact stu-

art.seidel@bakermckenzie.com who will try to obtain the text. Some notifications are only available in the official language of the country publishing the notification. Note: All dates are given as mm/dd/yyyy; National flags are not scaled for relative comparison.

CBSA Advance Rulings

No advance rulings were posted by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) during the past month. In September of 2014, the CBSA enhanced the Advance Ruling (Tariff Classification and Origin) and National Customs Ruling programs by publishing ruling letters in their entirety, with the applicant's consent, on the CBSA Web site.

It is important to note that rulings are binding only between the CBSA and the applicant. While posted rulings are for reference purposes only, they provide meaningful guidance and help other importers in complying with Canada's trade legislation.

CBP Rulings: Downloads and Searches

As US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) issues several thousand rulings a year, it is not practical to list each ruling. However, almost all rulings issued by US Customs or CBP from 1993 to the present and many issued before 1993 are available for search and downloading using the CROSS search engine. Over 197,000 such rulings are in the database.

CBP Rulings: Revocations or Modifications

No proposals were made or actions taken that were published in the weekly Customs Bulletin and Decisions during the past month by US Customs and Border Protection pursuant to 19 U.S.C. §1625(c) to revoke or modify binding rulings or treatment previously accorded to substantially identical merchandise.

European Classification Regulations

The table below shows the Classification Regulations that were published in the Official Journal during the period covered by this International Trade Compliance Update.

Commission Implementing Regulation	Description of the goods	Classification (CN code)	Reasons
(EU) 2018/407 of 14-03-18	A product named 'brown fused alumina slag' which is a by-product obtained during the production of ordinary electro-corundum in electric furnaces. The product is composed of the following ingredients (% by weight): - iron 75 - silicon 15 - titanium 5 - aluminium 3 - other metals 2 The product is used for concentrating metal ores by selective flotation in the gravimetric separation process.	7202 29 90	Classification is determined by general rules 1 and 6 for the interpretation of the Combined Nomenclature, Note 3(a) to Chapter 26, Note 1(c) to Chapter 72, Subheading note 2 to Chapter 72 and by the wording of CN codes 7202, 7202 29 and 7202 29 90. Classification under heading 2620 is excluded because the product does not fulfil the requirements of Note 3(a) to Chapter 26. The chemical composition of this product fulfils the requirements of note 1(c) to Chapter 72, defining ferro-alloys, and of subheading note 2 to Chapter 72, defining ferro-alloys of heading 7202. The two essential characteristics of this product, which are in line with description of ferro-alloys, are that this product is used in gravimetric separation of metal ores and is prepared in electric furnaces (see also the Harmonized System Explanatory Notes to heading 7202, the fourth and sixth paragraphs). Because of the chemical composition of the product which allows its use in the gravimetric separation of metal ores by selective flotation, the product is to be classified under heading 7202 as a ferro-alloy. The product is therefore to be classified in CN code 7202 29 90 as other ferro-silicon alloy.
