

How we can support you globally

Today's technologies have made it easy for companies to collect, transfer, and share sensitive data around the world. At the same time, the legal requirements surrounding data protection and privacy have grown complex. These standards can vary by jurisdiction, creating a burdensome task on multinational companies to ensure compliance in lieu of costly fines and criminal or administrative sanctions.

We have more lawyers dedicated to privacy matters than any other law firm in the world. Citing our expertise in data protection compliance on an international level, Chambers Global ranked us as a Tier 1 practice for data protection in 2017. Few can match our experience in advising on cross-border data protection matters.

Comprehensive solutions to privacy issues

We advise clients seamlessly on their privacy and data protection needs and do so at every stage, including issues that arise during crisis, a transaction, or daily operations, or helping organisations prepare for new legislation.
