

Representative Legal Matters

Catherine Koh Stillman

- Defended a Japanese manufacturer of capacitors in class actions alleging price fixing in the aluminium, tantalum and film capacitors market.
- Served as antitrust counsel on secondment at a multinational bank.
- Defended Chinese manufacturers of vitamin C in first price-fixing class actions brought in US courts against Chinese defendants involving landmark foreign sovereign compulsion issues.
- Defended a US manufacturer of filtration products in over 50 class actions, consolidated in the Northern District of Illinois, alleging price fixing in the aftermarket filters market.
- Defended a global healthcare products company in an antitrust class action against claims relating to alleged monopolization, restraint of trade, civil conspiracy and restrictive contract clauses in the urological catheter market.
- Defended a global healthcare products company in a lawsuit regarding alleged market manipulation of pulse oximetry products, including the use of sole-source contracts, market share discounts, co-marketing agreements and bundled rebates.
- Defended a German medical device manufacturer in a federal antitrust lawsuit in the Eastern District of Texas challenging aftermarket service support, software and replacement parts distribution policies.
- Represented global technology companies in various multibillion-dollar transactions.
- Obtained FTC clearance for an American manufacturing company on its USD 602.5 million acquisition of a manufacturer of specialty glass and commercial display equipment.
- Assisted in obtaining FTC clearance for the largest provider of dialysis services in relation to its USD 2 billion acquisition of another healthcare company.
- Represented a supplier of medical waste collection and treatment services in investigations conducted by the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice and selected state attorney general offices concerning multiple acquisitions.
- Represented a global financial services company in a class action brought by merchant-plaintiffs alleging antitrust violations related to merchant discount and interchange fees.