Limited Liability Company

1. General

The locally incorporated limited liability company is one of the most common forms pursuant to which foreign companies do business in Saudi Arabia. The formation of a limited liability company is fairly involved. The Saudi Arabian General Investment Authority ("SAGIA"), which is the authority that is responsible for approving and licensing foreign investment in Saudi Arabia, must approve the formation of a limited liability company in which a foreign party is to have an interest by granting a license authorizing the foreign party's investment in the company. SAGIA, in issuing the license, will also specify the objects which the company will be authorized to pursue. The parties must submit a joint application to SAGIA for this purpose prior to submitting the application it is customary to enter into a joint venture agreement (if the shareholders are unaffiliated with one another) and agree upon the company's Articles of Association. After SAGIA grants the above-mentioned license the Articles of Association must be submitted to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry for its approval.

2. Features of a Saudi Arabian Limited Liability Company

Some of the more salient features of a limited liability company are:

- (a) A minimum of two (2) and a maximum of fifty (50) shareholders may form the company. A corporate entity may be a shareholder and two affiliated foreign companies may form a Saudi company.
- (b) The shareholders are liable for the debts of the limited liability company only to the extent of their capital shares.
- (c) The minimum capitalization requirements set by SAGIA are SR <sup>1</sup> 25 million (US$ 6.67 million) for agricultural projects, and SR 1 million (US$ 267,000) for industrial projects, with no minimum capitalization for other projects, comprised of indivisible non negotiable shares of equal value. SAGIA and the Ministry of Commerce and Industry have discretion to require larger capitalization. For example, the Ministry generally follows a policy that manufacturing companies should be capitalized at an amount equal to 25% of the total anticipated cost of establishing the plant. Distribution companies are subject to capitalization requirements as set out in Exhibit II.

- (d) Transfers of shares between the shareholders may be subject to such conditions and restrictions as are specified in the Articles of Association, but each shareholder is entitled by statute to a pre-emptive right.
- (e) The company may be managed either by an individual manager or by a board of managers.
- (f) Ten percent (10%) of the net profits of the company must be set aside as a statutory reserve until such reserve equals fifty percent (50%) of the original capital of the company.
- (g) Under the Foreign Investment Regulations, companies incorporated in Saudi Arabia with foreign participation should, in theory at least, be able to enjoy the advantages and incentives available to national companies. However, the Supreme Economic Council has a published "Negative List" of activities whereby certain activities are limited to wholly Saudi owned companies. This list is subject to periodic review and may be amended from time to time at SAGIA's recommendation. A translation of the current negative list is attached as Exhibit I hereto. Although most of the activities which are not mentioned on the negative list can be engaged in by companies that are up to 100% foreign-owned or by branches of foreign companies, certain activities (most of which were recently removed from the negative list) may be undertaken only by companies having minimum Saudi ownership percentages and/or subject to other restrictions or requirements. The relevant restrictions/requirements are identified in the document attached as Exhibit II hereto.

3. Advantages

- (a) A limited liability company can sponsor its employees for residency purposes.
- (b) A limited liability company undertaking an industrial project would, in most cases, qualify for financing from the Saudi Industrial Development Fund at favourable rates.
- (c) A limited liability company may engage in the full range of activities which fall within the approved objects of the company and undertake projects in both the public and private sector. In addition, the company may promote and solicit business throughout the Kingdom.

4. Disadvantages

- (a) The activities of the limited liability company are limited to the objects approved by SAGIA and set forth in its Articles of Association. The objects must be broad enough to allow the company to engage in the activities it wishes to, but if too broad SAGIA is unlikely to approve them. From the viewpoint of a foreign company having a Saudi partner, the objects of the limited liability company should be broad enough to allow the company to engage in the activities it wishes to, but should be narrow enough to allow the foreign company the option of forming another limited liability company or branch having different objects within the same general area of endeavour.
- (b) Unless the other partner is an affiliate, the foreign partner will not have complete control over the management of the company or the treatment of its employees.
- (c) The dissolution process can be fairly involved and, if a partner chooses not to be cooperative, costly. The commitment should therefore be viewed as a long term one and partners very carefully chosen.
- (d) Initial capitalization is required and may be quite large depending upon the objects of the company.
- (e) With respect to companies without Saudi participation, see comment (c)(iv) below in the section on branches.

Branch

1. General

- (a) The Companies Regulations and the Foreign Investment Regulations permit a foreign company to establish a branch in Saudi Arabia, subject to approval by SAGIA. In order to obtain a license to form a branch, a foreign company must submit an application to SAGIA. The formation process is generally similar to that of a limited liability company except that there are no Articles of Association to be approved. However, the Minister of Commerce and Industry, under the Companies Regulations, must issue a decision approving the formation of the branch. The capital requirements are the same as that of a limited liability company and dependent on what type of activity the proposed branch will undertake. Also a limited liability company, ten percent (10%) of the net profits of the branch must be set aside as a statutory reserve until such reserve equals fifty percent (50%) of the original capital of the company.

2. Advantages

- (a) The formation process is generally simpler than for a company. For example, no Articles of Association have to be approved. However it can sometimes take a bit longer to form than a company if the manager is not a Saudi national or a foreign national who is already a Saudi resident because a foreign manager who is not already a Saudi resident must obtain a residence permit as part of the formation process. In the case of a company it may or may not be necessary to obtain a residence permit during the formation process, depending on the company's ownership and management structure.
- (b) A branch may engage in the full range of activities which fall within its approved objects and undertake projects in both the public and private sector. In addition, the branch may promote and solicit business throughout Saudi Arabia.

3. Disadvantages

- (a) Since a branch has no separate and independent legal personality, a foreign company operating in Saudi Arabia through a branch could be subject to suit in its home country in connection with a claim arising out of its in-Kingdom activities.
- (b) Like a limited liability company, a branch's activities are limited to the licensed objects which have been approved by SAGIA and may not include activities on the "negative list" (see Exhibit I). Moreover, certain activities recently removed from the negative list may only be undertaken by companies having minimum Saudi ownership percentages and these of course may not be undertaken by branches (see Exhibit II). It should be noted that branches are normally licensed (and expected) to engage in substantive, income-producing work. Branches cannot be formed solely to engage in promotional activities, but have from time-to-time been formed for the purpose of providing liaison and managerial and technical support functions for joint venture companies in which the foreign company (or its affiliates) participate.
- (c) Also like a limited liability company, a branch must be capitalized at a level set by SAGIA. Unlike a limited liability company, however, there are no other shareholders to share the financial burden of providing the minimum capital for the branch and of setting up a commercial and administrative infrastructure in the Kingdom.

- (d) As a practical matter, it can be difficult to function in Saudi Arabia without a Saudi partner to help handle something as mundane as expediting the issuance of exit and re-entry visas, or as significant as helping one find his way through the upper echelons of a Saudi Ministry. A branch therefore does not guarantee complete freedom of action from the practical (and oftentimes political) necessity of having a close working relationship with one or more Saudis. That relationship could, however, take the form of an agency or consulting relationship.

Technical Scientific Services Office ("TSO")

1. General

Only foreign pharmaceutical companies are legally required to establish a TSO. Non-pharmaceutical companies, however, have been able to form TSOs at the discretion of SAGIA and the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, provided that, in the opinion of those authorities, the products of the company are sufficiently complex to justify establishing the TSO. The process of forming a TSO is similar to that of forming a branch, however, it would also require the foreign company to enter into a distributorship agreement with a Saudi distributor which is required to be registered as such with the Ministry of Commerce and Industry under the Commercial Agencies Law. Moreover, approval from the Saudi Food and Drug Administration is required in order to establish a TSO in the pharmaceutical or medical device fields.

A TSO serves, in essence, as a liaison between a foreign company, its Saudi distributor and the local market. A TSO cannot engage in commercial activities or earn revenue. Its activities are limited to: (i) providing technical information and assistance regarding the foreign company's products to the distributor and to end users of the products, including analyzing and assisting the distributor to handle technical service problems; (ii) studying the market and preparing reports to the company's head office; and (iii) conducting technical research in connection with the products.

2. Advantages

- (a) Formation process is simpler than for a company and is similar to that of a branch.
- (b) There are no capital requirements.

- (c) The TSO may bring its employees into Saudi Arabia on visas it may obtain, thereby retaining full and complete control over its employees.

3. Disadvantages:

- (a) The TSO could not be involved in any fee earning work and would be expected to act as a liaison office and support center for the locally appointed Saudi distributor.
- (b) A TSO would not have a separate and independent legal personality; therefore, a foreign company operating in Saudi Arabia through a TSO could be subject to suit in its home country in connection with a claim arising out of its in-Kingdom activities.
- (c) A TSO would not have licensed objects like a branch and therefore could not perform services outside of local promotion and support for its agent.
- (d) A TSO is limited to the number of employees it could employ which would ordinarily be limited to five (5) or less non-Saudi nationals initially and perhaps ten (10) such persons even after a period of time. The exact number would be subject to approval by Saudi authorities. In the case of a TSO in the pharmaceutical or medical device fields the manager of the TSO must be a Saudi pharmacist.
- (e) The distributor must write a letter supporting the establishment of the TSO.

Temporary Commercial Registration ("TCR")

1. General

A TCR permits a foreign company to do business in Saudi Arabia in only a very limited sense and has only been available to companies having a government contract. TCRs have not in most cases been available in connection with subcontracts on government projects although some exceptions have been made.

If a foreign company is a prime contractor it must first obtain a Temporary License from SAGIA, before it files an application for a TCR with the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. In general the formation process is similar to that of a branch.

The TCR will enable the foreign company to perform the government contract, but the company may only engage in activities directly related to the performance of that contract. The foreign company may not engage in the general promotion or solicitation of business. Moreover, the term of a TCR is limited to the term of the contract with regard to which it is granted.

2. Advantages

- (a) There is no capitalization requirement.
- (b) The TCR need not (and in fact cannot) be applied for until a contract has actually been obtained.
- (c) A TCR can be obtained for consulting projects.

3. Disadvantages:

- (a) A foreign company may only obtain a TCR after it has obtained a government contract and the license is limited to the scope and duration of the contract only.
- (b) A TCR does not allow a foreign company to establish an actual presence in the Kingdom for the purposes of promoting business, or even simply monitoring and surveying market conditions and business opportunities. The company must therefore rely on business opportunities brought to its attention by third parties or identified by its in-Kingdom personnel.
